TESTIMONY ABOUT ORTEL'S 'PAL' HALTS MURDER INQUEST

Juror Tells of Seeing Frank Anthonis, Workhouse Prisoner, on Streets Last Friday Morning.

WATCHMAN SLAIN IN GARAGE SUNDAY

Police Reported Manager of Place Said Missing Man Used Phone Friday, Asking for Anthonis Over Wire.

The inquest into the shooting and killing of Charles Hoffman, private watchman, at the Baden Garage, Walter avenue, near Hall's Ferry road, early Sunday, was halted today when Jacob Mitchell of 2733 Osceola street, a member of the Coroner's jury, told of having seen Frank Anthonis, a "pal" of Tony Ortel, walking on Broadway near Osceola street Friday.

The significance of this is that Ortel is being sought in connection with the killing and that Anthonis, who is known to the police as "The Boob," is a workhouse prisoner and not supposed to be at large on the streets.

The police report on the Hoffman shooting yesterday quoted Charles Ossyra, manager of the garage, as saying Ortel entered the garage Friday and used the telephone, asking someone at the other end of the wire to call Frank Anthonis to the telephone.

Anthonis at Workhouse.

Detectives testified at the inquest that when a police investigation was made at the workhouse it was asserted by Supt. Morgan that Anthonis could not have answered any telephone call, as he was a prisoner without privileges and was not permitted to leave the workhouse inclosure.

Ossyra, testifying at the inquest, told of Ortel's visit to the garage about 10 a. m. Friday. He said he could not recall that Ortel mentioned Anthonis' name when telephoning, but thought he called for someone named "Tony."

Juror Mitchell told Deputy Coroner Deave he saw Anthonis on the street about a block outside the workhouse sometime in the forenoon of Friday. Late he said he talked with Frank W. Simmons of 2722 Osceola street, a former member of the House of Delegates, who told him he saw Anthonis in a saloon on Broadway near the workhouse Friday afternoon.

Handkerchief Produced.

Detective Walton at the inquest placed in evidence a bloodstained handkerchief which he found near the garage after the shooting. It bore the laundry mark "R. T." and had the embroidered initial "T" in one corner.

Mrs. C. C. Smith of 8357 North Broadway, near the garage, testified she saw Hoffman standing at the garage door with his hand on an electric light switch. It was his habit to turn out the garage lights about 3 a. m. when making his rounds. She saw a man standing inside the garage near a gasoline tank and she heard a shot, apparently fired by this man. The light went out and she heard Hoffman's voice saying: "Don't shoot, George, this is Charlie."

The police explanation of this is that Hoffman thought the man inside was George Ruhl, the patrolman on the beat, and that he believed Ruhl had mistaken him for an intruder.

Supt. Morgan of the workhouse today repeated that Anthonis was in the cellhouse inclosure all day Friday and said that anyone who thought he saw Anthonis on the street or in a saloon was mistaken. He said Simmons was his rival for the position at the time he was appointed workhouse superintendent and has since been politically opposed to him.

Supt. Morgan said Simmons visited him at the workhouse yesterday or Sunday and told him he had seen Anthonis in August Rodenberg's saloon at 4359 South Broadway Friday afternoon. Morgan said he was not at the workhouse Friday afternoon, but he called in Chief Guard William Niemeyer, who said it would have been impossible for Anthonis to be out. Morgan then told Simmons he must be mistaken. Rodenberg said that, so far as he knew, Anthonis was not in his saloon Friday afternoon.

The police yesterday questioned and later released 13 men and two women, all of whom denied knowledge of the shooting. An automobile said to be of the type used by Hoffman's slayers is held by the police to determine the nature of stains found on the rear seat.

138TH AT REST; 87 MEN DECORATED; CASUALTIES 138; COL. McMAHON TRANSFERRED

St Louis Regiment Finishes First Tour in Trenches—Commander Takes Important Post at French Port.

Letters from members of the 138th Infantry, the St. Louis National Guard regiment, received here today, have brought an interesting budget of information. The most important details of news from the regiment are the following:

The 138th has completed its duty in the Vosges Mountains, in Alsace, and has been sent to a rest camp.

Col. E. J. McMahon was transferred on Aug. 5 from command of the regiment to the important position of landing officer, in command of the military zone which includes an important French port, at which many American soldiers enter France. The 138th is temporarily in command of a Colonel of cavalry from the regular army.

A large number of the members of the regiment—87 by one account—have received the French Croix de Guerre for bravery, and the regiment has been officially commended for bravery, in army, army corps and division orders, both French and American.

The regiment's casualties up to Aug. 1 were 17 killed, including one officer (First Lieutenant Bilsbarrow) and 121 wounded. The regiment's casualties, as officially reported to date by the War Department, have been seven killed and six wounded.

I, K and L Companies have been commended in divisional orders by Brigadier-General N. F. McClure, commanding the Thirty-fifth Division, who says that officers and enlisted men, "although they were exposed to a heavy bombardment and suffered considerable loss on July 11, nevertheless held their trenches, thereby preventing a successful coup de main by the enemy and causing him serious losses." Four companies of the regiment have thus been praised in divisional orders, the first mentioned being that of H Company for its successful raid July 6, in which 60 Germans were killed and seven taken prisoners, with small losses to H Company.

Among those recommended for the French War Cross are Lieut. Oliver W. Spencer of 4457 Washington boulevard and Sergt. George D. von Land of 2905 Madison street, each of whom led a platoon in the H Company raid. Also it is known that First Lieutenant William H. Leahy, who commanded H Company in the raid, has been recommended for decoration.

News of the regiment is contained in a letter written by First Lieut. Frank C. Sullivan of 5605 Chamberlain avenue, acting Adjutant of the regiment, to Stephen A. Connell of the United States Secret Service here.

"We have just completed our first and wonderfully successful tour of duty in the trenches," Lieut. Sullivan writes, "and we have met friend Heinie hand to hand for the first time. I could rave on for pages about the behavior of the boys of the St. Louis regiment, but the facts speak for themselves.

"First, the regimental colors have been decorated by the French.

"Second, the regiment has been cited in army, army corps and division orders, both French and American.

"Third, 87 men of the outfit are now sporting the Croix de Guerre.

"We have come through two big engagements with wonderful success and carried off the honors in any number of the usual trench skirmishes. Our casualties so far are 17 (one officer) dead and 121 wounded.

"As regimental liaison and intelligence officer, I had wonderful opportunities to free lance over our entire sector and take in everything. My days of freelancing are over now, for since July 15 I have assumed the duties of Regimental Adjutant. I appreciate the honor and feel happy in the thought that I am soon to be a Captain."

The greater part of the casualties to which Lieut. Sullivan refers have not thus far appeared in official lists. Besides the death of Lieut. Bilsbarrow, the deaths of six men of the regiment have been officially reported. Of these, three were in L Company, two in H and one in E. Six men have been officially reported as wounded.

The severe bombardment of I, K and L Companies by the Germans, members of the regiment have written, was in retaliation for H Company's spectacular raid five days before. The H Company raid, and the repulse of the Germans by I, K and L Companies after the boche bombardment, were the regiment's "two big engagements" to which Lieut. Sullivan refers.

Word of the divisional commendation of I, K and L Companies comes from Capt. Clarence J. Soldemann, commanding L Company, in a letter written July 18 to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Sodemann of 3514 Connecticut street.

Capt. Sodemann states that his losses were heavy, nine of his men being dead and about 20 wounded, several severely.

Excerpts from Capt. Sodemann's letter follow:

"I am breathing an honest sigh of relief, as the company has just been relieved from duty in the trenches. We are resting today. We appreciate it, I can tell you. We are still up, but a mile or more behind the lines where things are quieter, although shells can find our address, but do not.

"Our first tour was a hard one. We worked eight days and nights with very little sleep. Personally I did not think of sleep as my head was full of work and plans.

"Intelligence Department report showed that we gave Fritz a good trimming and although our losses were heavy, nine dead, including Lieut. Bilsbarrow, and about 20 wounded, several severely, the boche got a good heating. We took our position and held it and took No Man's Land from the enemy. We were opposite Prussians as discovered from prisoners captured.

Praise in Division Order.

"The following division order is self-explanatory:

Headquarters Thirty-fifth Division, A. E. F., France, 16th July, 1918.

General Order No. 48.

1. The division commander desires to commend the soldierly conduct of the officers and enlisted men of Companies I. K and L. 138th Infantry, who, although they were exposed to a heavy bombardment and suffered considerable loss on July 11, 1918, nevertheless held their trenches, thereby preventing a successful coup de main by the enemy and causing him serious losses.

2. It is by displaying such qualities that our men will increase our own morale and destroy that of the enemy. With such men in our ranks it is only a question of time until we gain the ascendency. The admiration of all members of this division is due the members of these companies, whom we cannot but regard with the greatest pride.

N. F. McCLURE,

Brigadier-General, N. A., Commander.

"Everyone is in the finest of spirits and just a little more serious. We, of course, mourn our losses, but these must be endured. The loss of Lieut. Bilsbarrow is a severe blow to us and especially so to me. We were great pals. He and I were always working together and his death is my particular loss, as well as the company's. However, as God wills, so must we accustom ourselves.

"I want you to know that my heart and soul is in this business. I am earnestly striving to watch and keep my men as safe and as strong as is possible. I am very proud of the honor I have to lead such brave, unselfish lads into and through this struggle. Our prayers here are for a clear mind, a disregard of personal safety, only success at whatever cost."

Lieut. Spencer is a son of Selden P. Spencer, chairman of the District Appeals Draft Board and Republican nominee for United States Senator. He writes his father that he was recommended for the French War Cross for rescuing a wounded private under shell fire and capturing the first German machine gun taken by his division, the Thirty-fifth. Excerpts from his letter follow:

"Getting All the Breaks."

"I met Capt. Fullerton yesterday. He assured me that I have a Croix de Guerre as soon as Congress or somebody gives permission to allow me to receive a foreign decoration. I also have been recommended to attend a foreign school of officers. In fact, I have been getting all the breaks of the game. Most of it is sheer luck.

"For example, I happened to capture the only boche machine gun captured by our division. The taking of it was not much, but because it was the first one, I received some credit. Also, on my way back from the raid I came across a wounded man, and, of course, did what I could to help him back. In goes a report of how I heroically aided a wounded man while under shell fire, while, as a matter of fact, I was only showing a hurt private the worth of the stretcher business.

"I told Capt. Fullerton I did not in any way deserve a French cross,

SIXTY PRUSSIANS INVITE CAPTURE BY U. S. TROOPS

Prisoner Disclosed Their Positions to Our Men, Who Say They Merely Went Out and Got Gunners.

ANGLO-AMERICANS GAIN NORTH OF VESLE

Tighten Grip on Territory Germans Hold Beyond River, Meeting With No Resistance.

By the Associated Press.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE VESLE FRONT, Aug. 20.—Sixty Prussians have been taken prisoners by the Americans near Fismette, north of Fismes, without either side firing a shot. The Prussians were machine gunners and all that remained of a company which had been in line less than a month.

American detachments went out a few nights ago, the location of the machine gun positions having been reported by a prisoner. According to the Americans the Russians were waiting to be taken prisoner. The intelligence officer who questioned the Prussians asserted that they nearly all had agreed to surrender if the slightest opportunity arose.

The Americans who took the prisoners do not claim any credit for the capture, declaring that the Prussians virtually deserted their posts.

A German prisoner taken Sunday told an intelligence officer he believed that, if the battle line recedes to eGrmany proper, the fighting spirit of the German soldiers will be greatly stimulated.

The Americans and French increased their grip on their holdings north of the Vesle River at several points early Monday morning by slight infantry advances. The maneuvers were carried out without encountering any Germans.

West of Bazoches the Germans sent out patrols, but these were pushed back by the Americans.

The French and Americans Sunday began operating the biggest guns they have used since they reached the Vesle. These heavy guns are blazing away at the Aisne River region and beyond it, where aerial observers have reported that the Germans are concentrating supplies.

LIEUT. COLEMAN KILLED, FATHER IS INFORMED

Message Tells of Death July 19—Letters From Him Dated July 25 and 29.

A telegram stating that Second Lieutenant Eugene W. Coleman of the Sixty-First Infantry, headquarters company and pioneer platoon, was killed in action in France July 19, was received today by his father, Edward A. Coleman of 5018 Garfield avenue, from the War Department.

Lieut. Coleman's wife yesterday received two letters from him, which were dated July 24 and July 29. Because of the conflict between these dates and that named in the War Department message, the family sent a telegram of inquiry to the department.

Lieut. Coleman was 22 years old, and was formerly employed in the engineering department of the Pennsylvania Railroad, St. Louis division. He entered the Officers' Training Camp at Fort Sheridan a year ago. Just before going to camp he was married to Miss Mildred Coudy of 5058 Garfield avenue. Mrs. Coleman now lives with her parents at that address.

He obtained his commission last November, and sailed for France Dec. 27.

Henry Ortlepp of 523 Jarrott street, Belleville, received a letter today from a chaplain in France, informing him that his son, Robert, 23 years old, died July 21 while being operated on for wounds received in action a few hours before. Ortlepp enlisted in July, 1917, in the infantry and later transferred to the artillery. He was an uncle of Walter Seitz of Belleville, who was killed May 28. Ortlepp is the fifth Belleville soldier to be killed.

Cyrus Thompson, president of the Harrison Machine Works, Belleville, has received word that his nephew, Ewing Boone, 24 years old, formerly of St. Louis, had been killed in action in France. Boone's father, Howard C. Boone, now resides in Kansas City.

Corp. James L. McCormick, 23 years old, of 6142 Berlin avenue, was wounded in the chest with a German machine gun bullet July 19 while in action with the Sixth Regiment of Marines on the Marne, according to a letter received from him yesterday by his wife, formerly Miss Mary Waugh of 5842 Berlin avenue. They were married last fall, shortly before he sailed for France.

Preston J. Bradshaw, 5947 Clemens avenue, has been informed by his brother, Erwin, a member of the 129th Field Artillery in France, that their brother, Tom, 17 years old, a bugler in the Marine Corps, has been wounded. Erwin wrote that he had seen Tom's name in a casualty list in France.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. WILSON BACK FROM THEIR VACATION

Special Train Reaches Washington at 8:36 A. M. and Executive Goes Direct to White House.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—President Wilson returned to Washington this morning after his brief vacation. The special train carrying the party arrived at 8:36 a. m., and the President and Mrs. Wilson went immediately to the White House.

By the Associated Press.

MANCHESTER, Mass., Aug. 20.—President Wilson left for Washington on a special train last night. Mr. and Mrs. E. M. House accompanied the President and Mrs. Wilson to the train. Seven of the Marine detachment that had been on duty at the Coolidge estate, where the President stopped, picketed the station platform. The President shook hands with each Marine, and with five secret service men from Boston. He appeared in the best of health and spirits.

The President's five-day outing did him a world of good. His improvement was steady and pronounced. Yesterday he won from Dr. Grayson in a golf match.

Besides secret service men, three branches of the navy kept watch over the President. Marines picketed the grounds he occupied. Two hydroplanes searched adjacent waters and two torpedo boat destroyers and submarine chasers watched.

Provost Marshal Expects About Half That Number to Go at Once Into Class 1.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Revised estimates announced today by the Provost Marshal-General show 158,000 young men to have become 21 since last June 5 and who should register for military service, next Saturday. Of this number it is estimated that about half will go into Class 1, subject to immediate call to the colors.

Estimates of Saturday's registrations by states include Missouri, 5540, and Illinois, 9545.

PRESIDENT INVITED TO COME HERE

Chamber of Commerce in Move to Obtain Visit in October.

An invitation to President Wilson to include St. Louis in the itinerary of his tour to the west coast of the United States in October was extended today.

News dispatches from Washington yesterday said that Secretary Tumulty was arranging the itinerary on the basis of invitations extended. Secretary Bunn of the Chamber of Commerce said that Mayor Kiel, on behalf of the city, had joined with the Chamber of Commerce in placing an invitation to the President in the hands of Secretary Tumulty.

CAPTAIN THINKS HE SANK U-BOAT OFF U. S. COAST

Navy Department Gives Out Report of Enemy Submarine Being Rammed Aug. 17.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The Navy Department announced today that the captain of an American steamer had reported that his vessel rammed and probably sank a submarine about 9:30 p. m. on Aug. 17, near Winter Quarter Shoal, off the Northern Virginia coast. The captain stated the submarine was struck on her port bow, bringing her alongside.

The submarine crew hailed in strong German accents, saying they were friends, the captain said, but he replied they were no friends of his. He kept on his course, he said. The steamer is now in port with a badly damaged bow and a quantity of water in her hold. The captain thinks he sank the submarine.

In making the announcement the department did not name the ship. Because of the American skipper's circumstantial report and the tangible evidence furnished by the damaged bow, the story is given credence not accorded most of the accounts of submarine destructions reaching the navy.

Information furnished by officers of vessels attacked by German submarines along the American coast has strengthened belief held by several officials here that the enemy raiders have had communication with persons on shore and may even have landed members of their crews in an effort to obtain reliable information. The Navy Department officially has refused to indorse this belief, though admitting the possibility.

Claim that he met in a New York saloon an officer from the submarine that sank the schooner O. B. Jennings is made by the first officer of that vessel, according to a story reaching the department, the German making his escape when the American appealed to a brother officer for confirmation of his belief.

From authoritative sources it is learned there is reason to believe three German submarines have been operating on the American coast. One submarine, it is considered certain, was especially equipped for duty as a cable cutter, as explanation of the sudden parting recently of two Atlantic cables.

GAIN OF 4 MILES MADE AT ONE POINT

German Position at Soissons and on Aisne Said to Be Endangered, With Possible Forced Withdrawal to Chemin des Dames.

POSITION CAPTURED NORTH OF ROYE

Allies Make Further Gains in Roye and Lassigny Regions and in Lys Salient; 2000 More Germans Taken.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 20, 4:45 p. m.—According to the latest advices reaching London, the front of this morning's attack by the French extended over 15 miles. Good progress has been made everywhere, according to reports and the advance on this front since Saturday is now over four miles at its maximum depth.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 20, 1 p. m.—The French tenth army attacked again this morning, on a front of 10 miles, between the Oise and the Aisne, and reached a maximum depth of two miles, according to a dispatch from the battle front.

The advance of the French troops endangers the whole German position at Soissons and on the River Aisnes. It is possible that the Germans will now withdraw to the Chemin-Des-Dames.

Before 9 o'clock the French had captured 500 Germans.

North of Boye, the French have taken the Bracquemont and Fendu Woods, and have occupied the greater part of Beuvraignes, according to advices. It also is reported that they have made progress to the southeast of Beuvraignes.

Advance of One Mile.

The attack of the French yesterday between the Matz and the Oise was on a front of 12 miles and, although the Germans offered a stubborn resistance, the French made an advance of about a mile.

Although the advance was a small one, it is regarded as important, as it carried the French line further down the slopes of Lassigny Massif (ridge).

The French also moved up the valley of the Oise, the line being between five and six miles from Noyon.

British Repulse Four German Attacks North of Roye.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Four German attacks against British positions at Chilly, about six miles north of Roye, were repulsed during last night, according to the official statement issued at the War Office today.

The British lines were advanced in the neighborhood of Vieux Berquin and Outterstеene in the Lys salient, according to the statement, which says that 182 Germans were made prisoner.

The text of the statement reads:

"A successful minor operation was carried out by us last evening between Vieux Berquin and Outterstеen, to the right of our recent advance in that sector. Our line was brought forward to the neighborhood of the Vieux Berquin-Outnterstеen road. We took 182 prisoners."

Germans Give Up Position Which Lead to Calais.

By the Associated Press.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 20.—By withdrawing their forces in the Merville sector of the Lys salient, the Germans definitely have given up one of the points from which a drive for Calais logically would be launched. This is taken to indicate that the German high command has, at least for the time being, abandoned hope of reaching the coast and now, perhaps, is chiefly concerned with getting the German lines back to a place of greater security.

The withdrawal here has been expected for some time and it comes ued last night and today even on a slightly broader front than that of yesterday. The retirement marked the conclusion and failure of the effect which Germany launched early in the spring to "finish off" the British army by driving through to the sea.

"Other withdrawals continue and the British, taking advantage of the opportunity, have at various places pushed forward where the enemy has left small garrisons.

"South of the Scarpe River the British still further advanced their line, while their positions south of the River Somme were improved by local actions. An enemy attack which developed here yesterday was a complete failure in every respect, the Germans suffering heavy casualties.

"Between the Somme and the Ancre rivers, the British lines have been steadily improved in the last few days and last night the positions of the enemy west of Bray were successfully raided.

German Airplanes Bomb Nancy—Six Civilians Killed, Score Hurt.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 20.—French troops last night occupied the village of Vassens, northwest of Morsain, between the Oise and the Aisne, according to the War Office statement today.

There was reciprocal artillery fire in the region of Lassigny, and Dreslincourt, west of the Oise, the statement says.

A German aerial bombardment of Nancy was carried out. Six of the civilian population were killed and a score injured, the statement adds.

The text of the statement reads:

"There were reciprocal bombardments in the region of Lassigny and Dreslincourt during the night.

"Between the Oise and the Aisne French troops occupied the village of Vassens, to the northwest of Morsain, last evening.

"A surprise attack by the enemy west of Maison de Champagne was without result.

"The night was calm on the rest of the front. German airplanes bombarded Nancy last night. It is reported that six of the civilian population were killed and a score wounded."

PARIS, Monday, Aug. 19.—The French troops north of the Oise River have reached the western outskirts of Lassigny, according to the official communication issued tonight. They also have made their way out of the Thiescourt wood and further south have captured the village of Pimprez on the Noyon-Compeigny road. Northwest of Soissons the village of Morsain has been captured and 2200 Germans have been made prisoner in this region.

British Capture Railway Station at Roye; Gain in Lys Salient.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Monday, Aug. 19.—British troops today captured the railway station at Roye, according to the latest news received this evening from the Anglo-French battle front.

The British forces on the Lys salient have advanced on a front of 12,000 yards, entering the town of Merville (Lys salient) and reaching the road running from Paradis to Les Faresbecques, through Merville, according to Field Marshal Haig's communication issued tonight. The communication said:

"The enemy this morning strongly attacked on a front of a mile against our positions between Lihons and Herleville. He succeeded in penetrating our line at two points, but was immediately driven out by our counter attacks and the situation was completely restored.

"The total prisoners captured yesterday (Sunday) in the neighborhood of Cuttersteen was 676."

Fall of Lassigny Expected in Paris; German Withdrawal Menaced.

By the Associated Press.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Monday, Aug 19 (Monday).—Successive blows delivered against the Germans since Aug. 10 all along the line from the Somme to Soissons appear to have brought the operations to a crucial point.

Lassigny is now almost turned to the south and is threatened from the north. It is likely to fall at any moment.

Gen. Mangin now holds the line running from Morsain along the southern edge of the ravine of Audigncourt to Rosette Heights, dominating the plain of Carlepont, and thence on to Pimrix across the Oise. This success gives the French command of the valley of the Oise as far as Mont Renaud.

With these routes commanded by Gen. Mangin's artillery, the only free route for exit from the region of Noyon and Lassigny, is the narrow gauge line running north to Ham by way of Guiscard, and the high road running in the same direction. Unless the German General von Hutier is able to stop Mangin's advance he will have only this narrow outlet for his troops and material, as the tri-angle from Noyon to Guiscard while a good one for defense, is not favorable for an intense movement of troops and transport.

By sticking to Lassigny the Germans are taking a big chance against the possibility of a further advance by Field Marshal Haig's troops north of the Avre. The menace to Chaulnes has been further increased by the latest advance of the British and the fall of that town will put Roye and Sassigny in a pocket which it will be far more difficult to empty than the pocket at Montdidier, since Gen. Mangin's troops northwest of Soissons are advancing to the plateau west of Nampoel and are within shelling distance of the only railroad and the only good high road from Noyon eastward to Chauny.

Military observers lay stress on the importance of the operations carried out Monday east and west of the Oise. They believe that Lassigny is about to fall and the Echo de Paris considers that the town virtually is in the power of the French.

FOCH TO HAVE EXCESS OF MORE THAN 1,200,000 MEN IN 1919, SIMONDS SAYS

Enemy Had Only 40 Divisions in Excess of Allied Force When His Series of Offensives Began This Year

By FRANK H. SIMONDS,
Author of "The Great War."

Five months ago tomorrow, on March 21, the Germans launched their great offensive in Picardy. We have, then, under the most favorable weather conditions, lived through two-thirds of the campaign of 1918. The slow but sure turn of the tide has brought us to a situation where all the valuable ground lost in the first four months of the campaign has been retaken in the fifth, and the invaluable advantage of the initiative.

Thanks to the Russian collapse, the Germans possessed on the west front at the outset of the campaign a superiority over the French and British of some 40 divisions, having available 220 against 180. They had, in addition, devised a new method of attack, and were thus able to score one of the great victories of the war in their March offensive. Again in April, in Flanders, and in May in the Isle-de-France, along the Aisne, they won victories hitherto unprecedented in the war of positions.

In all these battles there was the monotonous record of successes achieved by the massing of superior numbers at the decisive point. At the second battle of the Somme, in March, the Germans used 110 divisions against 81 of the allies, and in the first thrust 40 against 15. At the Lys in the Flanders fighting of April, 40 German divisions against 38, but the allies only brought up an approximately equal number after a long delay, and an initial disaster. At the Aisne in May 20 German divisions overwhelmed seven British and French.

165 of 200 Divisions Used

At the start of the campaign the Germans had 200 divisions of their 220 available for active work. Of these 110 were used at the Somme and 40 at the Lys. A dozen more were reported among the forces at the Aisne, and three in the battle of Compeigne in June, when the Germans were promptly checked. Thus when he began his fifth offensive in Champagne in July the German had already used 165 of his 200 divisions of available troops at least once. He had, in fact, used at least half twice and 25 of them three times. And in the defeats of the second Marne and of the third Somme the German has used 70 divisions and 35 respectively, an din this number have been included not less than 20 of his remaining fresh divisions. He had last week not more than 15 fresh divisions in reserve, and he has unquestionably drawn on these already to stabilize the Somme front.

In a word, the German, who had two and a half millions of fresh troops, organized into 200 divisions on March 21, has now not more than 15 divisions of unused troops, numbering not more than 175,000. Of the 185 divisions which have been used, most, if not all, have now been used at least twice. Of the 2,500,000 troops approximately a million have been at least temporarily removed by casualties, and half of this number permanently by disability or capture. To replace this wastage the German has been obliged to draw upon depots and call up the young and the old, inferior manifestly to the units of last March.

Now, by contrast, what is the allied story? France and Britain had 180 divisions against 220 last March, and they had also five Belgian and two Portuguese divisions. To this might be added the single American division available in March. Today, after five months, the recall of French and British divisions from Palestine, Salonica and Italy, the transportation of metropolitan garrisons from Britain to France has given the French and British alone at least 190 divisions, while the five Belgian divisions remain.

As for the Americans, we had the value of 15 German divisions, 170,000 men, actually engaged in the Second Battle of the Marne, and at that moment the equivalent of 10 more on the line. Since that time we have begun to constitute a new army and several more divisions have taken their place at the front.

In sum, where 190 French, British, Belgian, Portuguese and American divisions faced 220 German divisions on March 21, at least 220 British, French, American and Belgian divisions are now in line, and at least 25 additional American divisions approaching a state of training where they can be employed.

German Losses of Five Months.

Thus the German has lost in five months all the advantage he originally possessed in superior numbers. Since his divisions are actually smaller than those of each of his opponents, he has now fewer men on the front, although conceivably an equal number of divisions, and this inferiority is bound to become more and more marked as our troops arrive at the front, for the German made his maximum effort in March and cannot even bring his existing number of divisions back to their old strength during the present campaign.

Measured by events the same facts are revealed. In March the German success was enormous and rapid. In April his second thrust was an immediate success. As late as May 27 his Aisne drive gained much ground and many prisoners. In these three operations he claimed 145,000 prisoners, 2000 guns and a conquest of at least 2000 square miles. All this achievement was in the period of his full strength and our inferiority. It lasted from March 21, the opening of the second battle of the Somme, to the end of the third battle of the Aisne, on June 5.

But in the battle of June 9, on the Matz, the German took no more than 15,000 prisoners in four days and broke off the engagement on the fifth day, and their advance was inconsiderable. We had then the first clear evidence of the gradual approach of the equality of numbers disclosed by Mangin's counter thrust on Hutier's flank, after the frontal advance had been checked far north of Compiegne. Looking backward, it is manifest that this fourth German offensive disclosed a changing situation. Actually the German superiority was disappearing.

Fifth Offensive Broken.

And in mid-July at the Marne, and in "dusty" Champagne, the fifth German offensive was broken in three days, after the capture of less than 20,000 prisoners and an advance of hardly more than three miles, followed by an allied counter offensive, the capture of 35,000 prisoners and 700 guns. After this comes the Third Somme, with an allied offensive launched in advance of any German attack, showing the clear possession of initiative; and in this offensive at least 35,000 prisoners and 800 guns have already been taken, making a total of 70,000 prisoners and 1500 guns in a single month. More than 1000 square miles of French territory, half the area conquered by the Germans in the earlier battles, has also been retaken in this month.

Nearly 40 divisions the stronger in March, the German won his greatest victory, and he was able to continue his victorious career until he lost the advantage of numbers, but, having lost it, his defeats were prompt and he has no chance of regaining, not the advantage of numbers but the relative comfort of an equal force in this war.

Moreover, it is a source of profound satisfaction to all Americans that between March and mid-July we were able to furnish our allies the numbers necessary to restore the equilibrium, for the foundation of Foch's strategy both in defense and on the offensive has been the American contingent. While he was outnumbered, he waited, endured, avoided supreme disaster; when he had equal numbers he attacked and won two great victories. Hereafter he will have superior numbers rising to an excess of not less than 100 divisions, measured by the size of German divisions (1,200,000 to 1,400,000 men), in the campaign of next year.

This is what the newly planned American army will mean in Europe when the campaign of 1919 begins, and Foch will have an excess of 100 divisions, as compared with the 40 on which Ludendorff built his great conception of the present year, which included the taking of Paris and the elimination of France.

HUNDREDS KILLED IN PETROGRAD FOOD RIOTS, BERLIN HEARS

Martial Law Said to Have Been Declared After Day of Disorder and Fighting in Streets.

WORKMEN BATTLE WITH LETTISH GUARDS

March Through Streets and Shout "Down With Germans" — Czechs Hard-Pressed in Siberia.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Hundreds of persons were killed and wounded in a veritable battle between Lattish Guards and rioters during food disorders in Petrograd, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co.

The dispatch, which quotes Petrograd advices by way of Berlin, say that after the city had been without food for two days a procession of workmen marched through the streets, shouting "Down with the Germans!" and "Down with the Kremlin!" The battle between the rioters and the Lettish Guards occurred before the Smolny Institute. Martial law was proclaimed in Petrograd the same evening.

Heavy fighting has been in progress on the Ussuri front, says Reuter's correspondent at Vladivostok, and Czecho-Slovak outposts have been forced to retire. A contingent of Japanese marines, the correspondent adds, has landed at Nicolaeievsk, on the Amoy.

According to the Anglo-Jewish Press Agency, a telegram from Copenhagen reports the assassination at Petrograd of Henry Sliozberg, chairman of the Jewish Relief Commission, and one of the most prominent Jewish political leaders of Russia. Sliozberg, an authority on Russian civil law, formerly was Vice Governor of Galicia and Bukowina. He was strongly pro-entente.

Allies Reported to Have Withdrawn in Archangel Sector.

By the Associated Press.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 20.—It is officially reported from Vologda, says the correspondent at Moscow of the Rheinische Westfalsche Zeitung of Essen, that the Entente allied troops in the Archangel sector of Northwestern Russia have withdrawn outside the range of the Bolshevik artillery.

Soviet troops are reported to have blown up the Baikal tunnel of the Transsiberian Railway.

Second U. S. Contingent in Siberia, Third on Way.

By the Associated Press.

VLADIVOSTOK, Friday, Aug. 16.—A second transport carrying American troops has arrived at Vladivostok. The transport bearing the first contingent of American soldiers entered the harbor yesterday (Thursday) afternoon after a voyage of seven and a half days from Manila. A third troopship is expected to arrive this evening.

Gen. Dieterichs, commander of the Czecho-Slovak forces, estimates the enemy strength at 40,000 men, with 70 guns and 200 machine guns. The status of Czecho-Slovaks in Trans-Baikalia is unknown, he said, but it certainly must be desperate. To attain the object sought by the Entente allied Governments, a substantial force must be sent to the Manchurian front.

Opinion on all sides appears to be that the allied Governments are underestimating the magnitude of the task of liberating the Czecho-Slovaks and do not realize the necessity of actual warfare against superior numbers.

PROMPT REPORTING OF U. S. CASUALTIES FOUND DIFFICULT

Military Authorities Are Unwilling to Sacrifice Accuracy in Order to Rush List to United States.

By the Associated Press.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Monday, Aug. 19.—The recent Marne fighting has illustrated sharply the difficulties in prompt reporting of casualties. The system of keeping track of every member of the American expeditionary forces is simply organized but the task is gigantic.

Facts concerning every casualty are rushed by courier to the central records office where a check is made against his name and record to prevent confusion and to identify him. Then a message is prepared and checked back and then cabled to Washington, where the next of kin is notified and the list published.

The work is done as expeditiously as possible. In trench fighting and in small operations it is possible to make almost immediate casualty reports, but in a warfare of movement, involving large numbers and extended territory such as the Marne battle, the task becomes difficult and slow.

The regulations require that every report of killed, wounded or missing must be established beyond a doubt. With the assistance of experts the authorities constantly are endeavoring to speed up casualty reports. But they are unwilling to sacrifice accuracy, so that as far as is possible needless pain and anxiety to the families and friends of the men may be avoided.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. — Resumption of the Austrian offensive on the Italian front is to be expected at any time, according to the military critic of the Italian newspaper Corriere d'Italia, says a dispatch received here from Rome. The Ilea Nationale says the meeting of the Emperors is in direct consequence of the steps taken by the allies in Russia.

Foch's Local Blows Keep Enemy on the Defensive

PARIS, Aug. 20.

Apart from the tactical results obtained, the objects of which will be seen more clearly in the near future, the allied attacks between the Somme and the Aisne in the last two days have the important effect of keeping the enemy on the alert and preventing him from preparing a counter offensive.

The attacks have made it impossible for Gen. Ludendorff to regroup his troops. They have obliged him to maintain more than 140 divisions in the first line which have to be relieved constantly. At several points it has been necessary for him to increase the density of the first line.

Lea "Moppers-Up" Platoon.

Sergt. von Land, who led a platoon of "moppers-up," writes to Miss Mildred Fischer of 2847 North Grand avenue that when his pistol jammed he threw it at a boche and then finished him with a trench knife. His letter, dated July 14, follows:

"I am still alive, but lucky. We went over the top and gave Fritz an awful 'trimming.'

"About 20 yards out in 'No Man's Land' a high explosive shell exploded. I didn't get hit, but the concussion knocked me into a shell hole. I came up spitting out rocks, dirt, barb wire and everything else. My automatic pistol was full of dirt, the side of my face scratched and I was badly peeved. I hit the front line and found someone to take my spite out on. A 'boche' was standing there with a gun that had a bayonet on it that looked like a thousand yards long. I tried to fire, but my pistol jammed. I threw it at him and it connected with his chin. He went down and I finished him with my trench knife. One more less in the German army. The quicker we kill them the sooner we come home.

"I was in charge of the 'moppers-up' and we did our duty and did it well. We ran across a German officer. I ordered him taken as a prisoner. He stood up and shouted 'No prisoner. Deutchland uber alles.' He went down with a half dozen 45s evenly distributed through his body.

"We threw a smoke bomb in a dugout and as they came out we took them as prisoners. About this time the 'boche' artillery opened up on us and we had to seek shelter.

"I have been into it and now I am ready for further action. I do not believe it will be long before we are returning to the good old United States.

"I have been recommended for the American War Cross and the French Croix de Guerre."

BASEBALL TRAINING WINS HAND GRENADE RECORD FOR AMERICAN

Member of Foreign Legion in France Throws Bomb Almost 213 Feet.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 20.—That baseball is a fit preparation for one branch of the military service was shown recently when Gordon Sarre, an American member of the Foreign Legion, established a new world's record at Fontainebleau for throwing the hand grenade. Sarre threw the death-dealing grenade a distance of 70 meters and 50 centimeters, or nearly 215 feet. A few years ago Sarre was a baseball player on one of the best known preparatory school teams in the United States.

The former record of 66 meters and 67 centimeters, made on the Fourth of July, is also held by a former baseball player named Shocker.

GIRL 9, PLEADS FOR BROTHER, 17

Judge Agrees to Stay Sentence If Lad Can Get Into Service.

Mary McPherson, 9 years old, 1414 North Twenty-first street, appeared in the Mayor's office today to plead that her brother, Charlie, 17, who had been sentenced to two years in the boys' reformatory at Boonville, be permitted to join the navy instead.

She said that her mother, who earns $9 a week, could not support her family on that and that the Government allotment to her through her son's service would be helpful. Judge Calhoun said that if the boy were accepted in any branch of the service he would stay sentence.

Dollars Are Cheap Now
Save yours for a rise

Suppose your salary was being paid in wheat, and wheat was worth only sixty cents a bushel. Wouldn't you save as much of your salary-wheat as possible if you could foresee a rise in value?

The fact is that your salary is being paid in dollars, and that a dollar at present is exchangeable for comparatively little of this world's goods. Yet a time is certainly coming when a dollar will be worth very much more.

There is only one logical course to follow: Save your dollars for a rise in value.

Instead of being at an expense for storage, as would be the case in saving wheat, you can deposit your dollars in a Commerce Savings Account, where they will earn three per cent interest, compounded twice a year.

LABOR PROTEST ON "WORK-OR-FIGHT" RULE IS SUBMITTED

Frank Morrison Tells House Committee Amendment Is an Attack on Loyalty of Workmen.

SUGGESTS INTERESTS ARE PUSHING PLAN

Congressmen in Lively Argument—Early Report on Man Power Bill Predicted as Hearings Close.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Organized labor's emphatic opposition to the work-or-fight amendment to the new man power bill extending the draft ages was presented to the House Military Committee today by Frank Morrison, Secretary of the American Federation of Labor.

Supporting the recent protest of Samuel Gompers, Morrison declared that the provision inserted by the Senate Committee, authorizing withdrawal of deferred classification from men absent from work without cause, was an attack upon the loyalty of American workmen, and a "conscription of labor in a covert" way, which would be resented in every corner of the country. He suggested that special interests were secretly pressing anti-labor legislation.

After discussing problems of educating drafted youths, with Dr. C. R. Mann of the War Department's Committee on Education, the committee closed its hearings, and began work on the bill. It probably will be reported in a few days for immediate consideration in the House. The Senate will take up the measure Thursday.

Reference of "Interests."

Morrison referred to the probable international effect of the work-or-fight provision.

"It would make the world and our allies believe our men are slackers," he said. "It is not asked by the Government, which is not exercised over the industrial conscription. Who is asking for this legislation—is it the Colorado Fuel Co. or the great Steel Trust?"

He asked if, in case the amendment is adopted, soldiers of democracy would be used as strikebreakers. Citing the pledge of organized labor made at the beginning of the war he added:

"Labor has kept faith. Labor conscription is not asked by the Government and is not necessary. This is the United States, not Germany.

"If enacted, the amendment would be used by every unfair profiteering employer. It is being used today by the Bethlehem company. Understand, I want it made clear that we do not protest against the men going back to fight, but against placing an employer in a position to brand his employes as slackers."

Argument in Committee.

In case of strikes, Morrison said, very few cases would occur where the men would refuse to work pending adjustment by the War Labor Board. If the men should refuse to work, he said, the existing draft regulations could be invoked, and that further legislation is unnecessary.

Representative Harrison of Virginia called attention to Secretary Baker's statement denying that the Senate amendment is a labor conscription plan. But Morrison insisted that it would be conscription and would be used as such by unfair employers. Representative Harrison declared if reasons for exemption of workmen cease to exist, they will return to their original draft status and in the argument that followed so many members of the committee joined that Chairman Dent urged them to permit Morrison to conclude and postpone their arguments until the committee met in executive session.

"It's conscription poorly camouflaged," Representative Lunn of New York interjected, while in a lively exchange between other members and Morrison. Representative Nichols of South Carolina declared that most men are drafted to fight and that the exempted workmen would be forced to fight only when they would not work.

Early Report Predicted.

Representative Greene of Vermont observed that men drafted to fight cannot strike, while workmen exempted propose to reserve the right to strike for higher wages. Secretary Morrison replied that profiteers often do not pay enough to their workmen, and Representative Greene retorted that deserters from the army are shot.

After the hearings committeemen predicted that the bill would be reported shortly, substantially as submitted by the War Department, and without "a work-or-fight" amendment.

Dr. Mann told the committee there was not the slightest danger of the education of youths being stopped by lowering the draft age. Intensive education of young men drafted is planned, he explained, by expansion of present army schools, combining scholastic and military education. It is planned to keep 20-year-old boys in the army schools until next March and the 19-year-old class until April, and as long afterward as they are not needed for military duty. Youths of 18 probably would receive one year's education.

It is proposed to put the program in operation next October, and any boy with a grammar school education will be eligible for entrance, with a chance to win a commission.

Many Objections to Amendment.

Personally, Dr. Mann opposed having boys of 18 in active warfare, but advocated their draft for training. Committee members observed that the program for 4,000,000 men in France next year also calls for retaining 1,000,000 men in this country, and that the 18-year-old boys would be held in camp.

Scores of protests against the work-or-fight amendment are reaching members of the Senate Committee. Within the last two days Chairman Chamberlain has received telegrams from practically every state federation of labor in the country as well as from officials of international unions, urging elimination of the provision. One of the most vigorous protests came from Frank J. Hayes, president, and other officials of the United Mine Workers.

Senator Chamberlain said today he would present the telegrams in the Senate Thursday.

A list of 359 colleges at which youths between 18 and 21 years are undergoing military training has already been prepared. At these schools they can become candidates for particular positions in the army suited to their qualifications. Those especially adapted for commissions will be given special training. All are to be enlisted in the student army training corps.

Dr. Mann told the committee there are about 165,000 men between 18 and 20 years of age now attending colleges, while of the 700,000 in the high schools about 100,000 are above 18 years of age.

How Men Will Be Called.

Plans for calling new registrants under the proposal, explained by Secretary Baker, provide for three classes probably to be called in order those between 19 and 37 years of age, those between 37 and 45, and those between 18 and 19. Baker did not object to separate classification of 18-year-old youths, but he and Gen. March said all eligibles probably would be called out not later than next spring.

HANDLEY-PAGE AEROPLANE CO. MANAGER SPEAKS HERE TODAY

W. H. Workman Thinks 10,000 Bombing Machines Would Win the War Next Year.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce and the Manufacturers' Association gathered at luncheon at the Planters Hotel today and heard W. H. Workman of London, general manager of the Handley-Page Aeroplane Co., speak on "What America Must Do to Win the War in a Year."

Workman is touring the United States to urge the building of thousands of bombing airplanes, many of which, he declares, could cross the Atlantic, thus saving ship space required for their transportation. He says the flight from Newfoundland to the Azores could be made in one day, and from the Azores to France in another day. He believes St. Louis would be a suitable place for the building of a large fleet of bombing planes. With 10,000 such planes in operation on the west front, he maintains, America would win the war next year.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Stories of gallantry and heroism displayed by individual American soldiers and marines in their stand which stopped the Germans on the Marne are beginning to reach the War Department in official dispatches. # WHEAT FOR GERMANY SEIZED

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Seizure of 1,057,000 pounds of devitalized wheat gluten which was to have found its way to Germany through Switzerland, was announced in a statement today by A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian. The grain, worth in pre-war times $200,000, was discovered in June in a warehouse here. It will be sold at public auction.

HAIR OFTEN RUINED BY WASHING WITH SOAP

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—ADV.

FORD'S ELECTION WOULD AID ENEMY, WRITES T. R.

"Unpatriotic Sentiments Would Give Germany Heart in Struggle Against Democracy."

By THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

By courtesy of the Kansas City Star.

EVERY loyal American citizen in Michigan should read the last two numbers of Mr. George Harvey's "War Weekly." In these numbers there are quotations from Mr. Henry Ford's speeches made years ago and again since we entered the war. Mr. Ford has not questioned the accuracy of these quotations given by Mr. Harvey.

Speaking of American flags over his own factory, Mr. Ford said:

"I don't believe in the flag. When the war is over these flags shall come down, never to go up again."

The sedition act, approved by President Wilson, inflicts a maximum punishment of 20 years in the penitentiary for any man who, while we are at war, utters "language intended to bring the flag of the United States into contempt or disrepute."

During the last year many poor and ignorant men have been convicted and sentenced for using language thus forbidden by law. In my view the fact that Mr. Ford is a wealthy man ought not to give him immunity from the law if he cannot show that he did not use the language quoted in the "War Weekly," but whether or not amenable to the law, no patriotic American can afford to put in the Senate, perhaps to help negotiate the peace treaty, a man who announced that as soon as peace comes he wishes to haul down the American flag and never again to hoist it. To send such a man to the Senate professing such sentiments under existing conditions would give the enemy a wholly wrong idea of the pacifist sentiment in our country. There is nothing in the world which would now help Germany as much or give her so much heart in her struggle for the overthrow of liberty and democracy as the belief that men professing such sentiments would have part in the peace negotiations on behalf of this country.

Assails Preparedness Stand.

Among the further utterances of Mr. Ford (as given in the "War Weekly") is one that he does "not believe in patriotism," and that he does not care any more for the United States "than for China or Hindoostan." The man who does not believe in patriotism is not fit to live in this country, still less to represent it in the Senate.

If these words of Mr. Ford mean anything, then Mr. Ford is unpatriotic and has no more right to sit in the United States Senate than a Hindoo or a Chinaman. Unless Mr. Ford can show that he never uttered these words, no man worthy to be called an American, and least of all any religious or patriotic man, can afford to support him for the Senate.

Mr. Ford has been given immensely valuable war contracts of the Government. No doubt he has executed them as well as the thousands of other contractors who render service to the Government for pay. But no service he can thus render the Government can offset the frightful damage he did our people by the lavish use he made of his enormous wealth in a gigantic and profoundly anti-American propaganda against preparedness and against our performance of international duty during the two and one-half years before we entered the war. This crusade against righteousness included the sending of the ridiculous "peace ship" to Europe. This particular manifestation was too obsurd even to do harm, but so far as it had any effect at all, it encouraged Germany to believe that we were as neutral between right and wrong as Pontius, and that as far as we were concerned she could safely proceed with wrongdoing because we held the scales of judgment even between the wrongdoer and his victim.

The crusade also included an extraordinary series of advertisements issued long after the Lusitania was sunk, in which Mr. Ford violently opposed and denounced preparedness, advocated and approved the McLemore resolutions and announced that it was our duty to keep out of war, and not merely himself kept silent about the wrongdoing of Germany, but assailed those who set forth this wrongdoing on the ground that they "had bred hatred by printing of incendiary news stories and articles." It may well be doubted whether this propaganda did not do more damage to the American people than the propaganda carried on by Ambassador Bernstorff at the same time.

"No Patriot Should Support Him."

If we had seen our duty and had fully prepared during these two and a half years, either we would never have had to enter the war or we would have brought it to a close immediately after we entered it. The best and bravest of the young men of the nation are now paying with their blood for our unpreparedness and therefore for the pacific propaganda quite as much as for the pro-German propaganda carried on in this country during the two and a half years before we entered the war. But wealthy Mr. Ford's son is not among these men. He is of draft age. He applied for exemption. The local board refused his application. He applied to the President. The President did not act for two months. Then the revised draft regulations were promulgated and Mr. Ford was excepted under the deferred or exempted class which included a married man with a child, however wealthy that man might be. He has exercised his legal right.

Very many thousands of young Americans, men of small means who are not sons of multimillionaires, have declined to take advantage of this legal right. They have left their wives and babies to go to war for a great ideal, for love of country, for love of liberty and of civilization. But Mr. Ford's son stays at home. These other young Americans face death and endure unspeakable hardships and misery and fatigue for the sake of America, and have surrendered all hope of money-getting, or comfort and of safety. But young Mr. Ford, in ease and safety, is in the employ of his wealthy father.

In private relations I understand that Mr. Ford is an amiable man. But I am not dealing with him in his private relations. I am discussing him as a candidate for high office. We are bound truthfully to set forth what we believe will be the effect of his election, and, therefore, we are bound to say that it would be damaging to the United States and would be encouraging to Germany. No patriotic American should support Mr. Ford.

ARMY RULES RELAX FOR VOLUNTEERS OVER 45

Slight Defects Not to Debar Men From Service in Special Branches, Col. Goode Says.

Physical requirements will be relaxed slightly for the acceptance of those men over 45 years of age who apply for enlistment in the United States army under the extension of the age limit from 41 to 55 years made in announcements from Washington yesterday, according to Col. Goode, in charge of recruiting for the St. Louis district.

Enlistment of men from 41 to 45 years old, inclusive, is temporarily forbidden, however, pending action on the new draft act which contemplates registration of men from 18 to 45 years. The men above 45 will be accepted for service in staff departments only—Quartermaster Corps, Ordnance Department and Signal Corps. Thus their service will be noncombatant, and in most cases, in the United States. The Engineers' Corps, under the law, is held to be in the line, nor will recruits over 45 years be accepted for the Medical Corps unless upon instruction of the Surgeon-General.

The men will be enlisted with the grade of privates for the period of the war. The physical standard of the army will be maintained, but Col. Goode said that slight defects that would not interfere with service in the particular branch for which the older men apply would be overlooked. As a whole, however, the men must be constitutionally sound and able to stand the rigors of army life. Instead of tarrying at Jefferson Barracks for general preliminary training, Col. Goode said that recruits between 46 and 55 would be sent to the barracks for a few days only, and then sent on to join their organization.

INSTRUCTION IN RADIO WORK OFFERED TO ALL IN DRAFT AGES

Entrance in Classes Being Held Throughout State Extended to Include Men Up to 45.

Preliminary instruction in the transmission of radio messages, which has been given since February in Missouri schools to men between 21 and 31, is now being offered to all those within the prospective draft limits, 18 to 45, under supervision of the State Board for Vocational Education.

Classes are held in schools in practically every district of the State, those in St. Louis meeting at Central High School for whites and Sumner High School for negroes. Enrollment of all those interested in the prospect of joining the Signal Corps is urged. Receiving the instruction does not make it necesary to enter the army, students not being in any sense enlisted nor their standing in the draft affected.

The work is to prepare men to meet an urgent need for radio operators in the Signal Corps of the army. Upon attaining fair proficiency with the key, certificates of the students' ability are issued, and these, if the students so desires, facilitate enlistment.

NO MORE WOOL FOR CIVILIANS

Army, Navy and Red Cross Will Require Year's Production.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—The army, navy and Red Cross require 900,000,000 pounds of wool and the country's production this year will be 280,000,000 pounds, consequently no wool will go into clothing for civilians this year, said Lewis Penwell, United States Wool Administrator.

No hand knitting yarn is to be made, said Penwell, and orders undoubtedly will be issued stopping the manufacture of fancy Indian blankets and Navajo rugs.

NEGRO FOLK SONG FESTIVAL

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 20.—A negro folk song festival is being arranged here for the purpose of familiarizing the negroes of Louisville with the music peculiar to their race. There will be a chorus of 300 voices, and only music by negro composers will be given. There will be no instrumental music beyond that necessary in accompaniment. Attention will be directed to some of the negro folk songs which have recently been given by noted white singers, as well as to music not so well known. The festival will be given at one of the leading theaters.

Williamson's Death Brought on by Heat.

12TH ENGINEERS MOVE TO SOUTH OF FRANCE

St. Louisans Who Were Behind British Lines Now Thought to Be Near 138th Regiment.

The Twelfth Engineers, which was recruited here last summer, and which has been stationed behind the British lines in Picardy since its arrival in France a year ago this month, was moved on July 25 to a point in the south of France, behind the American lines, according to a letter from the regimental commander, Lieutenant-Colonel John A. Laird to his wife, who resides at 4468 McPherson avenue.

The transfer of the regiment, which had on more than one occasion dropped the tools of their employment to fight with rifles, was made with great reluctance on the part of the British, Col Laird wrote. Its popularity with the British was evidenced last July 4, when several men and officers were decorated with British medals for bravery in action.

During the latter part of their stay with the British forces the engineers, who had been engaged in constructing and operating military railroads, were less active than when they first arrived there, Col. Laird wrote. The transfer to the American positions, he added, is expected to increase their work.

The movement of the regiment, with its equipment, required about three days. Upon their arrival at their new post they were divided among several small French villages, some of them being billeted in houses and others sleeping in "pup" tents.

Col. Laird described the beauty of the country in which the engineers are now located, mentioning particularly the mountainous character of the region. In a previous letter he told of meeting several officers from the 138th Infantry, formerly the First and Fifth Missouri National Guards, which had been holding a sector in the Vosges Mountains. Friends now believe the two St. Louis units are quartered near each other.

Col. Laird says all his men are in excellent health and those who have been in hospitals, from illness or other causes, have all rejoined the command.

Industries Can Store Coal.

Fuel Administrator Crossley announced yesterday that until Sept. 10 industries will be permitted to store screenings and low grades of coal without restriction. After that day the same restrictions will apply as govern the distribution of the better grades of coal.

Men 21 Since June 5 Must Register Aug. 24

ALL men who have reached their 21st birthday since June 5, 1918, and on or before Aug. 24, 1918, must register on Aug. 24, 1918.

In St. Louis the registration will be held at each of the 25 ward boards.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS FOR MISSOURIANS AT FRONT

Lieut. C. C. Rice of Rolla One of Several Honored, Gen. Pershing Reports.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Gen. Pershing's communique for Sunday, just given out, announced the award of the Distinguished Service Cross to three officers and four men for gallant conduct at the front. Among those honored is Lieut. Carl C. Rice of Rolla, Mo.

In the case of Lieut. Rice the communique said:

"Second Lieut. Carl C. Rice, Machine Gun Battalion—'In command of a machine gun sector on June 6, 1918, near Chateau-Thierry, France, he was wounded soon after the advance began, but refused to have his wounds dressed for fear it would delay the movement. He bravely continued to lead the section until he fell from exhaustion.'"

U. S. TAKES OVER ROYALTIES

Returns From Enemy-Owned Operas, Books and Plays Seized.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—American rights to numerous enemy-owned operettas, and to grand operas, plays, songs and books have been taken over by Alien Property Custodian Palmer. Royalties from these works will now be invested in Liberty Bonds.

Royalties on talking machine records of Emmy Destinn and of Fritz Kreisler will swell the sales.

Among comic operas and plays on the custodian's list are: "The Chocolate Soldier," "The Dollar Princess," "Miss Springtime," "Madame X," "Little Boy Blue" and "Pom Pom." The grand operas include Richard Strauss' "Salome," Wolf Ferrari's "The Jewels of the Madonna," and "The Secret of Susanne." The Government will collect royalties from John L. Stoddard's circulated lectures because the author, an American, is residing in Austria.

Coroner Notified of Woman's Death.

A telephone message to the Coroner this afternoon said Miss Margaret McComish, 24 years old, of 4150A Maffitt avenue, a stenographer, died suddenly while at work in the office of the Essmueller Mill Furniture Co., 1223 South Eighth street.

58 U. S. FLIERS HAVE DOWNED 1 TO 5 ENEMY PLANES EACH

Report Up to Aug. 1 Comprises Only 4 of American Pursuit Squadrons Operating at Front.

By the Associated Press.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 20.—Statistics covering activities of the first American pursuit group of aviators up to Aug. 1, comprising only four of the American squadrons now in operation, show that no less than 58 aviators are officially credited with downing from one to five planes. Seventeen are credited to the late Raoul Lufbery.

The German machines downed total 59, exclusive of those of Lufbery, but they are divided officially among nearly twice that number of men, because on numerous occasions several flyers participate in a battle.

The aviators credited with five victories are: Lieuts. Campbell, Rickenbacker, MacArthur, O'Neill; four each, Capt. Peterson, Lieut. Meissner; three each, Lieuts. Mitchel, O. P. Porter, Simonds, Jones and Healy. Fourteen have two victories each, and 32, including the late Lieut. Quentin Roosevelt, are credited with one each.

WATERWORKS LABOR TROUBLE

Temporary Suspension by Engine Room Workers Cut Water Supply.

Temporary suspension of work by about 50 firemen, oilers and engine room laborers at the St. Louis waterworks yesterday caused a diminution of the water supply in some sections of the city for half an hour.

The men work in three shifts of nine hours each. The shifts are changed each week and the men found that through the overlapping of these shifts some of the men put in the equivalent of an eight-hour day each month for which they were not paid.

City officials quickly recognized their claim and they returned to work.

LIEUT. MAGUIRE IS RECOVERING

Former Football Star Writes He Expects to Be on Firing Line Soon.

Lieut. John T. Maguire of 4429 Olive street, former St. Louis University football star, who was severely wounded in the head while leading a patrol on a raiding party across "No Man's Land" on May 23 last, writes to his parents that he is convalescing at Vichy, France, and expects to be back on the firing line within a few weeks.

He states that surgeons regard his recovery as remarkable, as the shot passed through his nose and emerged from the back of his neck, after fracturing his jaw. Only a slight scar on his nose is expected to result from the wound.

MAXIMUM OF LABORERS FOR WAR WORK NEEDED

Every Man in Non-Essential Is Urged to Change So Army Efficiency Will Be Kept Up.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—That the shortage of labor in war industries, estimated at nearly 1,000,000 men, is still seriously curtailing production, and, unless remedied, threatens to result in a shortage of supplies and equipment for the army, when increased under the new program, is emphasized in a statement of the Department of Labor. The shortage in skilled labor is becoming almost as acute as that in unskilled labor.

The available supply of unemployed labor is practically depleted, the department says, and the remedy lies in the patriotic recognition by nonwar employers that they must release labor to war industries in order not to imperil the supply of the military service.

Nathan A. Smyth, Assistant Director-general of the employment service, has notified state directors that "the seriousness of the situation can scarcely be exaggerated." He says:

"If we are not to leave our armies in a lurch, for the lack of munitions and supplies, every able bodied man in the country will soon have to work in some essential industry. Patriotic employers in nonwar industries should take immediate steps to reduce their forces of men to an absolute minimum.

"What, perhaps, is most needed in our war industries is an infusion of men who will undertake to work as common laborers because of our country's need. Americans, like the English and the French, must learn that 'common labor,' when performed for one's country in time of war, is worthy of any man, whatever his prior position or experience."

Sugar Instructions for Canners.

The Sugar Division of the St. Louis Food Administration urges all housewives to anticipate their sugar requirements for canning. With grapes just coming in there have been many demands at the Sugar Division for sugar certificates and many of those in line objected to delays in getting their sugar, some of them saying that they already had their grapes on the stove. The Sugar Division advises housewives to get the sugar first and make their arrangements for fruit afterwards.

GERMAN GENERALS SAY U. S. IS WAR FACTOR

Von Liebert Declares British and French Owe Their Recent Successes to Americans.

By the Associated Press.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 20.—Professional soldiers, like Gens. von Blume and von Liebert, unlike so many other German war critics, do not seek to belittle the significance of the appearance of the American army on the west front.

Gen. von Blume, who is on the retired list, in an article which appears in the Rheinische Westfaelische Zeitung of Essen, frankly admits that "we have to recognize that the Americans, all in all, have done very smart work, and it would be a very serious thing if the German army command had to face an American fighting army of millions."

Gen. von Liebert, who was former German commandant at Lodz, and who now is military critic of the Tageliche Rundschau of Berlin, tells the public that the American army has actually become a big factor and the debarkations in France are proceeding regularly.

Gen. von Liebert laments the "moral perversion" which brought the Americans to the front, and says: "The French and British owe their recent successes to their transatlantic ally, without whom their offensive would have been doomed to disappointment."

ST. LOUIS AMBULANCE DRIVER PRAISES BRAVERY OF COMRADES

Raymond Maritz Says "Many Fought as French Have So Often Fought, to Last Man."

Raymond Maritz, of the firm of Maritz & Henderson, architects, now with the American Field Service in France, in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Maritz, of 3445 Magnolia avenue, tells of the participation of the division to which he is attached in resisting the German drive which began July 14.

"Several weeks before its beginning," he wrote, "our division moved into line and we had only the usual work of a very tranquil sector. In spite of the unusual calmness everyone seemed obsessed with a strange expectancy and uneasiness, which increased as the passing days continued to bring the same unnatural quiet.

"After celebrating the 'fourteenth' in true patriotic style, we were awakened at midnight by the noise of the most terrible cannonading that we had ever heard and we knew that the moment of the attack had come.

"There is very little to tell about our work other than the fact that our little Fords rolled for some 24 hours, stopping only to load and unload the wounded, and that they acquitted themselves very creditably, I am sure. Our division, however, deserves greater praise than can ever be expressed in words. No body of men ever fought more bravely or held more firmly or ever displayed more magnificent tenacity. Many, to whom relief could not be brought, due to the intensity of the 'tirs de barrage,' fought as the French have so often fought, to the last man."

Maritz volunteered for the ambulance service shortly after the United States entered the war and has been on the other side more than a year.

CITY CONSIDERING PLANS TO MAKE UP FOR LIQUOR REVENUE

The prospect of national legislation to put an end to the liquor traffic is causing city officials to consider plans by which the loss of revenue from the licensing and taxing of saloons may be made up from other sources.

The annual report of Comptroller Nolte, just issued, shows that in the last fiscal year the city's revenue from the saloon business was $947,621.20.

The Comptroller today said the city's share of the $2.35 a hundred tax rate is $1.16, and under the State law this cannot be increased beyond $1.27. Such an increase would make up about $700,000 of the saloon revenue loss.

Associate City Counselor Hamilton suggested that one way to meet the deficit would be to have the State pass a law authorizing the collection of an income tax by the city, along the same lines as the Federal and State income tax. Another way, he said, would be to amend the State Constitution so as to permit the city to increase its share of the general tax beyond $1.27 on the $100 valuation.

LONG-DISTANCE TELEPHONE RATES TO ADVANCE TOMORROW

Talk Not to Be So Cheap When New Zone Rates Are Put Into Effect.

Talk will not be so cheap after tomorrow, when the new long-distance telephone rates go into effect. Special rates will be canceled, and the basis of the charge will be 10 cents for the fist seven miles and 5 cents for each additional seven miles or fraction thereof. The present rate is 15 cents for the first 15 miles and 5 cents for each additional 10 miles or fraction thereof.

The cost of a call from St. Louis to Jefferson City will be increased from 70 cents to 90 or 95 cents by the new schedule. The new rates were granted by the State Public Service Commission at a hearing in Jefferson City yesterday on the representation of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., that operating expenses had increased to a point where they could not be met under the old rates.

St. Louis Committee Seeks Money to Buy Modern Firearms.

The St. Louis Home Guard Committee has issued a public appeal for funds to defray the expenses of the two local Home Guard regiments, which are maintained by private subscription.

Ammunition and more rifles are needed that the regiments may have more target practice. Enlisted men at present are outfitted with cotton uniforms, but they furnish their own overcoats and shoes. It is hoped to be able to raise sufficient money to equip the men with modern firearms.

Thirty-two children of the neighborhood took part in an elaborate vaudeville show which was given last week in the yard of the home of Mrs. W. Harles at 4559 Clarence avenue, for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund. Besides the show, soda was sold to help the receipts, and after the performance Jules Reither, a Yeatman High School student, made a speech in behalf of the poor babies which brought in several donations. The total taken in was $34.50. The contribution was acknowledged in the list published in last Sunday's Post-Dispatch.

The affair was managed by Mrs. Harles and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Harles, assisted by Mrs. Robinson and by Mrs. O. Wrangler, pianist.

An interesting entertainment was given last Saturday night at the home of Walter W. Krenning, 5186 Maple avenue, when several children presented, in addition to vaudeville numbers, a charming little fairy play entitled "The Cobblers and the Elfs," written by Mr. Krenning's daughter, Anna Lou Krenning. A large number of persons attended and the sale of tickets at a low price brought in $7. As Mr. Krenning had promised to double any amount the children earned, the poor babies were helped $15 by the affair. The program follows:

The Cobblers and the Elfs.
The Cobbler ..... Hope Rosen
Cobbler's Wife ..... Anna Lou Krenning
The Elfs ..... Adele and Lourine Schmidt
Customers ..... Alice and Jean Work
Intermission.
Japanese Dance ..... The Whole Company
Intermission.
Poses and songs and a barefoot dance.

Jack Ryan, famous story teller, enlivened the occasion with several of his latest hits.

Children of the nighborhood conducted a bazar on a tennis court in the 6900 block on Pernod avenue that brought in $27 for the Milk and Ice Fund. The workers were Marguerite and Ruth Babbitt, Dorothy Pauls, Ruth Steuder, Elizabeth Perkins and Helen Friday.

Seven children earned $1.50 for the babies with a show given at 1436 North Garrison avenue, Aug. 15 and 16. They were Joseph, Lilian and George Rafferty, Alice Kavanaugh, Isabelle and Eileen Shea and Margaret Roach.

In Sunday's Post-Dispatch a contribution of $1.40 was wrongly credited to "Mary Daly, 4559 Clarence avenue." The contribution was received from four girls who conducted a lemonade stand in front of 4581 Cottage avenue on Aug. 15. They were Marion and Catherine Daly, 4581 Cottage, and Mary and Tillie Fiege, 4533 Cottage.

Reduce Your Weight
A Simple Home Method

If you would like to lose, weekly, from one to four pounds of burdensome fat, while eating and drinking all you need, also enjoying life far better than at present, just follow this advice:

Take seven deep breaths in the open air each morning and evening; after each meal take a little oil of korein daily; eat as much as you need and follow other simple directions that come.

Obtain a small box of oil of korein capsules at the druggist's.

Men and women who were waddling around with heavy, sluggish bodies have, in many cases, reported a gradual, agreeable reduction of thirty to seventy-five pounds, with wonderful benefit to health and figure.

This very summer is the time to become slim easily.—ADV.

The Fighting Arm of Industry!

OPPOSED to the "mailed fist" is the mighty arm of industry.

Behind the Yankee machine-gunner, the man bucking a racketing riveter.

Back of the belching blast-furnaces, the roaring din of high-powered industry at peak load, the food supply, the farmer at the plow,

—stands transportation!

Underlying the whole scheme the carriers must bear the burden to the panting workers.

Railways, waterways strain and tug at the load.

Both are primarily and directly dependent upon the highways.

The present uncertain condition of our highways makes it impossible for them to meet the burdens which they should bear.

Their neglect is serious and because of it we are paying a heavy penalty.

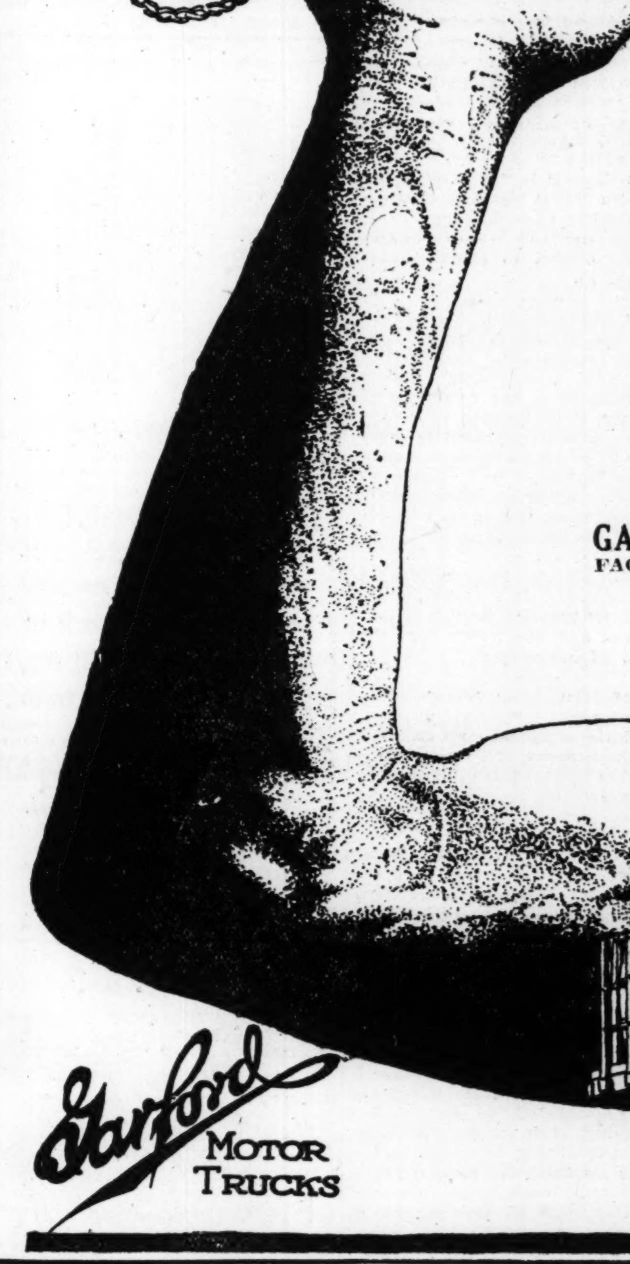

It is just as necessary to build permanent highways as it is to increase the efficiency of our railways and waterways.

No one of these great transportation forces is effective without the aid of the others.

All are allied in a common cause—the winning of the war and the meeting of conditions which will face our country afterwards.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

As we have no information bureau, it is impossible to answer queries by mail or telephone

LAW POINTS.

NO SIG.—Some Federal prisoners are taken to St. Charles.

E. P. B.—Take letters and all facts to P. O. Inspector, Custom House.

JOHN.—By giving a month's written notice, landlady may increase rent, whether you have coaled or not.

M. M.—You may take down the fence and shed you built on the premises, provided you do so before vacating; but to avoid any dispute, why not have owner or agent so certify in writing?

HONOR BRIGHT.—Unless you have a good ground upon which to contest the will, don't attempt it; old age alone is no good ground. If you can prove his mind was not just right at the time, or that he was unduly influenced by your sister, a court may set it aside. As to the particular personal property you mention, whether that would be sold depends upon a necessity therefor to pay debts, or whether it could be agreeably decided among those entitled thereto, and other facts; each estate has its own peculiar circumstances and it is beyond us to guess what may occur. If necessity arises, court will appoint someone to act in place of the party if called to the colors.

WAR TALK.

C. C.—Alien must register.

MRS. P.—Write to his Captain and his Colonel.

H. E. S.—See Red Cross, Railway Exchange Bldg.

W. X.—Phone U. S. Attorney, Custom House phone.

VON V.—Enlistment weight for 72 inches height, 138.

ROWLAND.—Party in Mexico would have to register.

G. M.—American Protection League, 630 Century Bldg.

S. G.—At present, divorce from soldier in France is not to be had.

A. B.—Saturday postage on newspaper to soldier in France 4 oz. 1c.; other days, 2c.

DUMONT.—Get full information at British Recruiting Mission, Broadway and Pine.

WORRIED SUBSCRIBER.—Write your facts to Judge Advocate-General, Washington, D. C.

AN ANXIOUS MOTHER.—It sounds like a Class 1 case, but the board will have to decide.

PHEBY.—All you can do is to tell Prosecuting Attorney, Municipal Courts Bldg., about husband.

PIONEER.—Pioneer in war forms roads, digs trenches, makes bridges. (See Red Cross about insurance.)

READER.—Examination in clerical work in Washington is not same as examination for work here.

ANXIOUS.—President may pardon convicted soldier. Government sends soldier's body at request of relatives.

COLLEGE STUDENT.—Camps for infantry training are located at Camp Lee, near Petersburg, Va.; Camp Gordon, near Atlanta, Ga.; Camp Pike, near Little Rock, Ark.; a camp for field artillery training at Camp Taylor, near Louisville, Ky., and a camp for machine-gun training at Camp Hancock, near Augusta, Ga. To be eligible for admission to a central training school, candidates, either civilians or enlisted men, must be between the ages of 20 yrs. and 8 months and 40 yrs; must be citizens of the U. S. and not have been born in any of the countries with which the U. S. is at war or allies of such countries. Enlisted men must have the moral, educational and physical qualifications required of an officer. Civilians must be graduates of a high school or have pursued an equivalent course of instruction; must be of good moral character; and must have the physical qualifications required for a commission in the Officers' Reserve Corps. For the field artillery candidates must, in addition to the above, possess a thorough knowledge of arithmetic, algebra, to include quadratic equations, and plane geometry. A knowledge of trigonometry and use of logarithms is desirable. Men having had a previous scientific and technical education and training are most desirable, particularly those educated and trained as civil, mechanical, electrical, mining or architectural engineers.

MISCELLANEOUS.

O. A. L.—No premium.

A. F. F.—No premium.

JIMSIE LEW.—Watch news columns.

REX.—See Constitution in World Almanac, this office.

NO. 17.—Louisville, Jefferson County, Ky. Courthouse, Louisville. Phone Navy Recruiting Station, 7th and Chestnut.

X. Y. Z.—Next presidential election, Nov. 2, 1920. President of Cuba, Gen. Mario Garcia Menocal. U. S. President may be re-elected every 4 yrs.

WATER BUGS.—Calomel, borax and flour mixed—1 part calomel, 3 parts borax, 3 parts flour—will rid house of roaches and waterbugs. Leave no food or drink for them anywhere. Be very thorough and persistent. (Soldiers' Home, St. James.)

E. F.—Von is of. Before a name it denotes a privilege title, either inherited or bestowed by a monarch upon his subject for meritorious services. While formerly this prefix was found in military or feudal families only, many commoners, especially captains of industry, scientists, financiers and artists were so honored by their monarch. The title is either hereditary or ceases with the death of the distinguished person.

SOLDIER.—The late King of England was a Freemason; George V is not, though his father is said to have recommended that he should be one. Emperor William was initiated as a Freemason, but virtually severed his connection with the craft when he succeeded to the throne. Frederick VIII of Denmark and Kings of Norway and Sweden and the President of France are Freemasons. The Duke of Connaught succeeded Albert Edward to the grand mastership in Great Britain when the latter became King.

H. R. B.—We do not know what compositions are designated 6th and 7th books of Moses; certainly none by common consent of biblical authorities. In addition to the Pentateuch, or first five books of the Old Testament, some have attributed to Moses the book of Job, but that is conjectural, and the better opinion is that the authorship of Job is entirely unknown. Indeed, modern criticism has thrown some doubt over the authorship of the books of the Pentateuch. The whole subject has been much discussed. Rabbi Emil Hirsch of Chicago has found no evidence that there ever was a Moses in the flesh.

BEST WAY TO WASH THE HAIR

We find you can bring out the beauty of your hair to its very best advantage by washing it with Canthrox. It makes a very simple, inexpensive shampoo, which cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all the dandruff, dirt and excess oil, leaving a wonderfully clean, wholesome feeling. After its use you will find that the hair dries quickly and evenly, is never streaked in appearance and is always bright, soft and fluffy; so fluffy, in fact, that it looks more abundant than it is, and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. Just use a teaspoonful of Canthrox, which you can get from any good druggist's, dissolve it in a cup of hot water; this makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head.—ADV.

Removes Hairy Growths Without Pain or Bother
(Modes of Today.)
It is not necessary to use a painful process to remove hairy growths, for with a little delatone handy you can keep the skin entirely free from these beauty destroyers. To remove hair, make a stiff paste with a little powdered delatone and water. Spread this on the hairy surface and in about 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. To guard against disappointment be careful to get real delatone.—ADV.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Dog Dangers?—Hydrophobia?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

As an admirer of fine dogs I was very much interested in the article by Dr. W. A. Evans of the Globe-Democrat of Aug. 13, also 14th. On the first date he describes in detail a case of "hydrophobia" being treated in "the county hospital." As there is no "county hospital" I dropped the subject until this morning when there is another tirade published about the hydrophobia scare. Taken from this last article is the admission that "the general population refuses to become interested" in the scare, and the need of having on hand constanly a large quantity of Dr. Pasteur's sure cure for dog bites. He "admits" hydrophobia is practically non-existent in England and Wales, and "he understands," also, in Australia, France and Germany, "but" in New York City there were about 4000 bitten people out of 4,000,000 population—being only one-tenth of 1 per cent, or vastly less than the afflictions from any known ailment or disease. But it only is claimed that 318 of these "bitten" people, of some 4000 bites," may possibly have had some degree of hydrophobia, or less than one-hundredth of 1 per cent, that might justify a scare head newspaper article on "How to Keep Well," from dog bites, etc.

Some years ago I wrote an article based upon an interview with the St. Louis city dog pound employes, and was surprised to learn that the dog catchers are regularly bitten, and invariably get well, but no one ever thinks of raising their salary on account of the horrors of hydrophobia. Neither do the employes get constant Pasteur treatment, nor does anybody keep constant bacteriological vigil over the swarms of canines which are annually impounded for having no license, but which are released without "Pasteurage," upon payment of the license for revenue of the municipality. It appears that the public needs some sort of serum and muzzles to prevent street car and automobile accidents, more than Pasteur treatment, to keep people from filling the hospitals.

E. T. GRETHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Mussel Shoals.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In an article in the Post-Dispatch of Aug. 11, written by William Atherton du Puy, relating to the synthetic niter plant being built at Mussel Shoals, Ala., the name is repeatedly spelled "Muscle" Shoals.

Now every native of that State, of which I am one, knows that the name is "Mussel" Shoals, meaning the bivalve, not a part of an animal body, and it seems odd to see such spelling by a well-informed writer. MISS C. M. SMITH.

Personnel of Second Draft Boards.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Our political expert, Mayor Kiel, wants to put the draft registration in the hands of the election clerks. Since the first draft was so well handled, why should Mr. Kiel change the machinery to the machinery of a political election?

We should assume that Mr. Kiel had no conscious thought of politics in proposing that change. Nevertheless, there should be even no remote connection between the second draft registration and politics, no matter how innocent.

The men who worked on the first draft did so expeditiously, satisfactorily and without thought of pay or political obligation. They and other citizens called to the draft boards are ready to serve again. We should keep political registrations and draft registrations as separate and distinct as possible. That is the spirit of the draft law and the spirit of the people.

ETERNAL VIGILANCE.

American Knights Not Wanted.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I see King George of England has knighted Gens. Pershing and Bliss; one with the order of Grand Commander of the Bath and the other the order of St. Michael and St. George." Only a few weeks ago he made "knights" out of two of our Admirals. Isn't there some way to notify King George that it is contrary to the laws of these United States for any officer of the army or navy to accept a title from Kings and Emperors, or to wear any medal emblematic of such a title? It is bad enough when some of our moneyed aristocracy, after making their fortunes here, go over to one of the old countries and either buy or marry a title; but it is nauseating, to say the least, to have this nobility-making business shoved under our noses when we are fighting for democracy.

I know that England is almost as democratic as we are, and their King has very little authority; still, he is a King, and when he has occasion to mention them he always refers to them as "My army and my navy." It seems to me it would not hurt his dignity to say "our army and navy," or the British army and navy. Now, I have always admired England and do yet, and if they are satisfied to have a King and the nobility, let them have it, but, for the love of Mike, ask the King to keep his titles at home. Even the Canadians have refused the titles, so why wish them on our men? I believe King George is an amiable gentleman, but some one of his ministers ought to "put him wise" to the fact that our boys have been told they are fighting to make the world safe for democracy, and that a Knight of the Garter or any other kind of a title does not fit in with democracy. If King George must do something, let him go help the Red Cross or the Salvation Army, but don't turn our officers' heads by distributing any more titles. Very truly, but disgusted,

C. O. RECTOR.

THRIFTY STAY-AT-HOME BOYS.

Do those occasional Treasury Department reports on what some stay-at-home Americans are making out of the war ever get over to France? What are the feelings of our fighters over there when they read of the possibilities in high-percentage profits they are missing?

It must not be supposed that all those who have gone abroad were salaried men or men who were still groping for the route to a competence or an independent fortune. Thousands of them gave up excellent professional and business prospects. Great numbers of them will find that the opportunities they have intrusted to others during their absence will be sadly impaired on their return. Many of them will have to begin their careers anew.

Any regrets they may feel now or hereafter because of the material sacrifices which devotion to patriotic duty imposes should not be accentuated by undue contrasts between their own lot and that of fellow countrymen to whom the war has brought a stroke of rare good luck. The three thousand per cent boys have been very busy while the boys in khaki have been going away, some of them never to come back. Doubtless these three thousand per cent boys are not so very numerous—at least not as numerous as the 2000 per cent boys and the 1500 per cent boys and the 500 per cent boys. But there are far too many of them. The general class of war beneficiaries to which they belong—beneficiaries who think only of rewards expressed in high figures, while the more patriotic face high explosives—have been permitted entirely too much latitude. While even the war contractors, classic examples of the get-rich-quick extortioners in former years, are being held down to comparative moderation in profits, other men are thriving outrageously on the simple needs of the whole people—on the articles of food and clothing indispensable to the maintenance of life.

The facts are sufficient to indicate the remedy. That some accumulate swollen bank accounts while others accumulate only wounds or meet death is shameful.

The sum of the Kaiser's achievement in Russia —Veni, vidi, Bolsheviki.

INTERNED SCOTT FIELD.

Thousands of visitors from St. Louis and the east side attended the athletic meet at Scott Field last Saturday. Other thousands started, but did not get to the field. The good will of the people was manifest, but they paid heavily in discomfort to show their good will.

Those who reached the field or went part of the way from Belleville to the field plowed through dust a foot deep. The road was enveloped in a cloud of dust which covered the cars and the occupants and laid a crust on faces and hands. Many turned back discouraged by the appearance and the reports of those who had tried but failed to reach the field.

Scott Field ought not to be cut off from St. Louis, Belleville and other cities near it. It ought not to be an internment camp. Access to it should be convenient and pleasant. The road from East St. Louis to Belleville is excellent. The road from Belleville to Scott Field is execrable.

The people near the field should demand a good road. The officers and cadets there are entitled to one. Belleville and the St. Clair County authorities should see that a good road is built and the present road immediately improved.

The Kaiser is quoted: "Enemy air attack on open town of Frankfort is contrary to international law." Showing that after four years the "all highest" has condescended to brush up a bit on that dust-covered volume.

A MAN OF COURAGE.

A man, once of exalted spiritual leadership in St. Louis but who had fallen into the depths of failure and ignominy, has just died as his feet seemed once more planted upon the long ascent into renewed public confidence and esteem.

Nobody can know, this side of Judgment day, the scars his tragedy had left upon his soul. Few will wish to know. It is never pleasant to stand among the ruins wrought by a tornado, least of all among the ruins wrought by a moral tornado.

Nevertheless, in this man's case, all was not lost. Hope was left, faith was left, aspiration was left. Best of all, friendships were left, friendships that refused to be dismayed or discouraged, that did not forget the towering structure that had once been where all seemed wreck and chaos.

Whatever misgivings he may have had as to his ability to repair his shattered life, he at least had the courage to attempt to repair it. And this is all his fellow men care to remember as they gather about Dr. William J. Williamson's final resting place.

That United Railways investigation is making a masterly retreat. The audit of the company's books has demonstrated that soulless corporations do not carry their hearts on their sleeves.

THE PRIME REQUISITE.

Somebody in New York has begun a campaign of propaganda for the compulsory teaching of French in American public schools. What nonsense! The only language which all American children should be compelled to study is the English language.

German instruction is done for. The place it formerly occupied will be taken by other tongues because the educational value of the study of a foreign language is unquestionable. French undoubtedly will be preferred because just now all eyes and hearts are turned towards France. The soldiers who come back after the war will have acquired an interest in the institutions and speech of France that will last for a long time, and this naturally will be reflected in the interest of their children.

Nobody who has ever made even the slightest acquaintance with the noble tongue of Racine and Moliere, of Hugo and Flaubert and Anatole France can deny that it offers a quicker and richer return on the investment of time spent in acquiring it than any other alien speech. Any boy or girl who will give just a little attention to it for a few months may acquire an intellectual pleasure that will be his for a lifetime. But it is not a thing he should be forced to acquire, whether he wants it or not.

Much as French is to be admired for practical, as well as cultural and esthetic reasons, it is not as important to the average American boy and girl as the English language. Children, and especially the children of cities, many of whom can obtain but a few years' schooling for industrial reasons, should be required to study only what is essential to fit them for the most valuable American citizenship. Other things should be taken up only when there is time and inclination for them.

THE PRESIDENT AND HEROES' DAY.

Mayor Kiel suggests a Heroes' day about Sept. 1, to honor the St. Louis boys who have been killed or wounded in battle or who are missing. The celebration might well include honor for all St. Louisans who are serving honorably at the front. All service is equal in heroic willingness to make the supreme sacrifice for the country.

Could not President Wilson be induced to come to St. Louis and join in the celebration which appeals to all Americans? The date may be fixed to suit his convenience. It is understood that the President will cross the continent this autumn making a few speeches in his journey. He is expected to make the trip about Oct. 1. He might be induced to include St. Louis in his itinerary.

We suggest that Mayor Kiel write the President to visit St. Louis and if he accepts make the day of his visit Heroes' day.

MORE HUNNISH DEVILTRIES.

The Associated Press brings a story, backed up by affidavits of Scotch soldiers, that German officers have had flame-throwing machines directed against unresisting and wounded prisoners, burning them to death. Coming from London, German sympathizers will, of course, say this is another of "those British lies."

However, it was our own Caspar Whitney, formerly editor of "Outing," who a few days ago cabled the following:

> At Mount Notre Dame, three kilometers south of Bazoches, on the Vesle, under a hill and out of the direct fire, are the charred remains of what was once a 3000-bed hospital of the French, which the Boche burned to the ground after killing most of the doctors and nurses and the 600 patients with their machine guns which they brought up and pointed through the very windows of the one-story wards.

And Stuart Olivier, general manager of the Baltimore News, who has recently returned from France, told the Baltimore Advertising Club how he saw with his own eyes the results of a German Gotha bombing raid on Paris. He said:

> We were compelled to leave a theater one night when the raid alarm sounded." Slowly we made our way in the black streets to the center where a bomb had struck and demolished houses in the vicinity. We found 103 dead children there.

Whenever the question of peace comes up, the question of PUNISHMENT will naturally accompany it, in the minds of the allied nations, especially the Americans. Rudyard Kipling says American soldiers, having been largely educated by women, are somewhat embarrassed in discussing Hun atrocities. But, for that very reason, they are the more shocked by such atrocities. The American mind cannot understand or believe in such things unless after repetition and verification.

There has been plenty of repetition and verification. And, as Kipling says, the American "finds himself at white-hot feud with the system which makes such things possible." We shall not meet atrocity with atrocity, but we will not permit those responsible for the Prussian frightfulness, nor their tools, to go unpunished.

HEROIC POLES.

A striking story comes from Washington to the effect that 125 Polish officers and men who are awaiting courtmartial for revolting against the Austrian Government last February have issued an appeal to their countrymen not to compromise the hope of Polish liberty for their sake. They would rather die than have any alleviation of their fate brought about through action that would hinder the freeing of their country from the Teutonic yoke.

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."

NEW PRO-GERMAN PERIL.

We knew already something about the local activities of the new pro-German agent. He rises in clouds about our feet when we cross vacant lots in the suburbs and is bold enough to jump impertinently into the vehicle when we are riding in the country. Prof. Leonard Haseman of Missouri University tells us his operations are more general than we suspected and extend through large areas of the Middle West. He is of ferocious aspect and in all descriptions of him two points are emphasized—the strength of his thighs and the structure of a jaw mechanism that experienced entomologists would recognize at a glance as the mark of a voracious disposition. He has already begun to dine on the hopefully cultivated war gardens of the towns and from the effects there a judgment can be formed of what he may be capable when he varies his menu on the pasture lands, the cornfields and the bean crops of the farm regions.

He must be dealt with as remorselessly as all other kinds of pro-German propagandists. Fortunately, we have had some practice in strafing him. A third of a century ago he impoverished Colorado, Kansas and other sections of the West. During many years the grasshopper sufferers—farmers whose crops had been sacrificed in successive seasons to the hunger of these insects—made a standing appeal to the generosity of the nation. He may be poisoned by the million with moistened bran mixed with arsenic. More effective is the fall plowing of fields so painstakingly as to break up and destroy the nests just below the ground, in which the grasshopper eggs are laid.

He may not appear in numbers amounting to a veritable plague this year. But with as many of him as there are this year, what may be apprehended for next year? With certain conditions during the coming winter, this new ally of the Hun might send against us mighty hosts whose ravages on the fields of America could be as disastrous as the ravages of the Prussians on the fields of Ukrania.

HOMESICK.

Boys at the front,
Mothers who pray,
Fathers who sigh,
Sisters who weep—
Homesick are you,
Homesick am I.

Empty the chairs,
And silent the songs,
The pillows unpressed,
No loved one caressed,
No dear face in sight,
And no fond good-night.

Boys at the front,
We can find home,
You in the fray,
We in our work,
Hearts can be healed,
Night turned to day.

Home is not walls,
Ancestral halls,
Palace or cot,
Intimate scenes,
Everything palls
Where love is not.

Here or afar,
Distance no bar,
Love rings us round,
In love are we bound,
Love is divine,
Love is our Home.

Love says "Come in,
Son at the front,
Or thou in the rear,
Dwelling in Love
Thou dwellest in God,
He is thy Home."

And ah, what a home!
Its pillars of light,
Upheld by Love's might,
Distance no bar,
In its roof every star
That spangles heaven's dome.

In the same Father's house,
With His own sun by day,
And His own moon by night,
His own earth under foot,
And His love all about,
Let's be homesick no more.

The Berlin Tageblatt announces that Crown Prince Rupprecht has gone on his vacation. Evidently got too hot for him where he was.

Kaiser Bill has postponed his vacation indefinitely. He is all dressed up, but there is no place in the civilized world where he can go.

Of course if the Kaiser wishes to carry out his original intention of spending his vacation in Paris he would be a welcome guest of the French Government. They would entertain him with necktie parties and everything.

A DOUBTFUL COMPLIMENT.

THE commander was going through a temporary field hospital back of the allied front after a recent drive, in which several American units were engaged.

There was a large sprinkling of negroes from a certain American negro unit among the wounded. The commander was giving each group, as he passed through, a few words of encouragement and commendation. Stopping before one group where the blacks were a little more plentiful than usual, he addressed them as follows: "Men, I am proud of you and the way you 'carried on,' and I believe your country is also proud of every one of you, black, white and indifferent." As the commander finished and moved on, a small negro as black as the ace of spades, raising himself on his elbows, said: "Black," "white" and "indifrunt;" "huh," "huh," "black niggah," "white man" an' "indifrunt niggah," "huh," "indifrunt niggah." "Dat sho am de bes name I evah huhd fo you all "yaller an' chocolate colored niggahs."

With the thermometer ranging anywhere from 95 to 105 in the shade, not to mention what it is in the sun, we read with interest that 1,600,000 sweaters have been knitted for the army.

About the middle of next January we hope to read about a shipment of 2,000,000 palm leaf fans to the boys "over there."

We wouldn't go so far as to say that the backbone of the summer was broken, but she seems to be sagging a trifle in the middle.

The Germans are conscripting the Russians, but it will take two soldiers to bring in a conscript.

TEUFEL HUNDE.

Dear Just-a-Minute: "Something in signs" that requires a thorough overhauling and which I take the liberty to send to your "clearing house" to be expurgated is a poster that is scattered all over town. The heading reads:

> Teufel Hunden
>
> Supposed to mean devil dogs. It should either be Teufel's Hunde (devil's dogs) or Teufel Hunde (devil dogs). That final n is a scream and the Germans are laughing up their sleeves at such lack of Kultur. Can't you help stamp out this ridiculous error? The designer certainly took liberties with a foreign language. ESPERANTO.

WORKING FOR FATHER.

CHARLES EDISON, son of Thomas A. Edison, in the Americana.

USUALLY two things are wrong with your father as an employer: One is that he is likely to let you have things "pretty soft," the other is that he will not treat your ideas and suggestions with the respect he shows for those of other men. You are still his little boy to him. Anyway, he knows you haven't any experience. He didn't let you get away! So he treats you with patronizing indulgence.

That's where I had the drop on my father. I had knocked around in a few organizations before I went with his. I had picked up some ideas of my own. Even though I had, I know from observation that if he had been like many men he would have ridiculed my notions, just because they were mine. I want to say that there isn't any better way than that of making a boy hate working for his dad and also of making him of no account in the business. Luckily for me, Thomas Edison has more sense than to do it. * * *

As it is, I would rather be Thomas Edison's employe than anybody else's. And I think that plenty of other young men would gladly work for their fathers if they, too, could be sure of being treated as an employe. * * *

Just on principle, I think it's not a good plan to mix family and business. I know my father doesn't care to have his relations working for him. And it is up to those that do to try harder than the other employes to make good. Instead of being jealous of me when I went into our business, I think the other men in the company pitied me. They knew I would have it "soft" from my father—and I haven't. But he has been mighty square to me. * * *

Father and I agree on many things, but there are some, of course, on which we differ. For example, I cannot and will not work 20 hours out of the 24, as he does. Father seems to find relaxation by changing from one piece of work to another. On the average, I put in 10 solid hours of work; after that I want a complete change. However, I can get it from very simple things—just going over to New York and walking along the street, watching the crowds, talking with my friends, or even with total strangers. A human being is more interesting to me than any machine ever invented.

Father spends all day and most of the night at his machines and problems. But for all that, I don't know that he ever really "works." He is simply having a good time. Sometimes I think he would have accomplished just as much if he had put in so many hours at it—but I don't know. I certainly would not advise the average man to follow his schedule. It did not have a wonderful constitution or couldn't have followed it himself. * * *

As I said before, it is a stimulating thing to work for Thomas Edison, no matter who you are. To be perfectly frank, I don't think I have had an exceptional advantage there because of being his son, except in one respect. I have had the opportunity of meeting the great men who become there to see my father. While they are talking I sit quietly back and try to skim the cream off the conversation.

I have listened by the hour, for instance, to my father and Henry Ford talk together, and I wouldn't trade that experience for anything. They discuss every imaginable subject—religion, politics, young girls, the war and so on. When they get into an argument it is great fun to listen to them. If the battle shows signs of subsiding, I like to egg them on with a word, and it starts all over again. Both of them have downright convictions, and they will try for hours to win the other one over—always, of course, without succeeding.

In the few years I have worked for father—I am only 27 now—he has never tried to bully me. He is the big boss. But he is not a tyrant. And neither has he mollycoddled me just because I am a son. Thanks to him, the problem of "working for father" has been solved satisfactorily in my case. If other fathers will treat their sons in business as he has treated me, it will settle the same problem for thousands of other young men.

Oh, Money! Money!

A Story of Sudden Wealth.

By Eleanor H. Porter,

Author of "Pollyanna."

"But I can't bear to have them all talk—and notice," choked Mellicent. "And we were together such a lot before; and now—I tell you I can't go to that dance tomorrow night."

"And you shan't, if you don't want to," Mr. Smith assured her. "Right here and now I invite you and your Aunt Maggie to drive with me tomorrow to Hubbardville. There are some records there that I want to look up. We'll get dinner at the hotel. It will take all day, and we shan't get home till late in the evening. You'll go?"

"Oh, Mr. Smith, you—you dear! Of course we'll go. I'll go straight now and telephone to somebody—everybody—that I shan't be there; that I'm going to be out of town!" She sprang joyously to her feet—but Maggie held out a restraining hand.

"Just a minute, dear. You don't care—you said you didn't care—that Carl Penock doesn't come to see you any more?"

"Indeed I don't."

"Then you wouldn't want others to think you did, would you?"

"Of course not!" The red dyed Mellicent's forehead.

"You have said that you'd go to this party, haven't you? That is, you accepted the invitation, didn't you, and people know that you did, don't they?"

"Why, yes, of course! But that was before—Mrs. Pennock said what she did."

"Of course. But—just what do you think these people are going to say tomorrow night, when you aren't there?"

"Why, that I—I"—— The color drained from her face and left it white. "They wouldn't expect me to go after that—insult."

"Then they'll understand that you don't care, won't they?"

"Why, I—I— They—I can't"—— she turned sharply and walked to the window. For a long minute she stood, her back toward the two watching her. Then, with equal abruptness, she turned and came back. Her cheeks were very pink now, her eyes very bright. She carried her head with a proud little lift.

"I think, Mr. Smith, that I wont go with you tomorrow, after all," she said steadily. "I've decided to go—to that dance."

The next moment the door shut crisply behind her.

CHAPTER VIII.

A Santa Claus Held Up.

IT was about five months after the multimillionaire, Mr. Stanley G. Fulton, had started for South America that Edward D. Norton Esq., received the following letter:

"Dear Ned—I'm glad there's only one more month to wait. I feel like Santa Claus with a box of toys held up by a snowdrift, and I just can't wait to see the children dance—when they get them.

"And let me say right here and now how glad I am that I did this thing. Oh, yes, I'll admit I still feel like the small boy at the keyhole, at times, perhaps; but I'll forget that—when the children begin to dance.

"And, really, never have I seen a bunch of people whom I thought a little money would do more good to than the Blaisdells here in Hillerton. My only regret is that I didn't know about Miss Maggie Duff, so that she could have had some, too. Oh, yes, I've found out all about Poor Maggie now, and she's a dear—the typical self-sacrificing, self-effacing bearer of everybody's burdens, including a huge share of her own! However, she isn't a Blaisdell, of course, so I couldn't have worked her into my scheme very well, I suppose, even if I had known about her. They are all fond of her though they impose on her time and her sympathies abominably. But I reckon she'll get some of the benefits of the others' thousands. Mrs. Jane, in particular, is always wishing she could do something for 'Poor Maggie,' so I dare say she'll be looked out for all right.

"As to who will prove to be the wisest handler of the hundred thousand, and thus my eventual heir, I haven't the least idea. As I said before, they all need money, and need it badly—need it to be comfortable and happy, I mean. They aren't really poor, any of them, except, perhaps, Miss Flora. She is a little hard up, poor soul. Bless her heart! I wonder what she'll get first, Niagara, the phonograph, or something to eat without looking at the price. Did I ever write you about those 'three wishes' of hers?

"I can't see that any of the family are really extravagant, unless, perhaps, it's Mrs. James—'Hattie.' She is ambitious, and is inclined to live on a scale a little beyond her means, I judge. But that will be all right, of course, when she has the money to gratify her tastes. Jim—poor fellow, I shall be glad to see him take it easy, for once. He reminds me of the old horse I saw the other day running one of those infernal treadmill threshing machine—always going, but never getting there. He works, and works hard, and then he gets a job nights and works harder; but he never quite catches up with his bills, I fancy. What a world of solid comfort he'll take with that hundred thousand! I can hear him draw the long breath now—for once every bill paid!

"Of course, the Frank Blaisdells are the most thrifty of the bunch—at least, Mrs. Frank, 'Jane,' is—and I dare say they would be the most conservative handlers of my millions. But time will tell. Anyhow, I shall be glad to see them enjoy themselves meanwhile with the hundred thousand. Maybe Mrs. Jane will be constrained to clear my room of a few of the mats and covers and tidies! I have hopes. At least, I shall surely have a vacation from her everlasting 'We can't afford it, and her equally everlasting, 'Of course, if I had the money I'd do it.' Praise be for that!—and it'll be worth a hundred thousand to me, believe me, Ned.

"As for her husband—I'm not sure how he will take it. It isn't corn or peas or flour or sugar, you see, and I'm not posted as to his opinion of much of anything else. He'll spend some of it, though—I'm sure of that. I don't think he always thoroughly appreciate his wife's thrifty ideas of economy.

"I HAVEN'T forgotten the night I came home once, to find Mrs. Jane out calling and Mr. Frank rampaging around the house with every gas jet at full blast. It seems he was packing his bag to go on a hurried business trip. He laughed a little sheepishly—I suppose he saw my blinking astonishment at the illumination—and said something about being tired of always feeling his way through pitch-dark rooms. So, as I say, I'm not quite sure of Mr. Frank when he comes into possession of the hundred thousand. He's been cooped up in the dark so long he may want to blow in the whole hundred thousand in one grand blare of light. However, I reckon I needn't worry—he'll still have Mrs. Jane—to turn some of the gas jets down!

"As for the younger generation—they're fine, every one of them; and just think what this money will mean to them in education and advantages! Jim's son, Fred, 18, is a fine, manly boy. He's got his mother's ambitions, and he's keen for college—even talks of working his way (much to his mother's horror) if his father can't find the money to send him. Of course, that part will be all right now—in a month.

"The daughter, Bessie (almost 17), is an exceedingly pretty girl. She, too, is ambitious—almost too much so, perhaps, for her happiness, in the present state of their pocketbook. But, of course, that, too, will be all right, after next month. Benny, the 9-year-old, will be concerned as little as anyone over that $100,000, I imagine. The real value of the gift he will not appreciate, of course; in fact, I doubt if he even approves of it—lest his privileges as to meals and manners be still further curtailed. Poor Benny! Now, Mellicent—perhaps in no one do I expect to so thoroughly rejoice as I do in poor little pleasure-starved Millicent. I realize, of course, that it will mean to her the solid advantages of college, music-culture and travel; but I must confess that in my dearest vision, the child is reveling in one grand whirl of pink dresses and chocolate bonbons. Bless her dear heart! I gave her one five-pound box of candy, but I never repeated the mistake. Besides enduring the manifestly suspicious disapproval of her mother because I had made the gift, I have had the added torment of seeing that box of chocolates doled out to that poor child at the rate of two pieces a day. They aren't gone yet, but I'll warrant they're as hard as bullets—those wretched bonbons. I picked the box up yesterday. You should have heard it rattle!

"But there is yet another phase of the money business in connection with Mellicent that pleases me mightily. A certain youth by the name of Carl Pennock has been beauing her around a good deal since I came. The Pennocks have some money—$50,000, or so, I believe—and it is reported that Mrs. Pennock has put her foot down on the budding romance—because the Blaisdells have not got money enough! (Begin to see where my chuckles come in?) However true this report may be, the fact remains that the youth has not been near the house for a month past, nor taken Mellicent anywhere. Of course, it shows him and his family up—for just what they are; but it has been mortifying for poor Mellicent. She's showing her pluck like a little trump, however, and goes serenely on her way with her head just enough in the air—but not too much.

"I don't think Mellicent's real heart is affected in the least—she's only 18, remember—but her pride is. And her mother! Mrs. Jane is thoroughly angry as well as mortified. She says Mellicent is every whit as good as those Pennocks, and that the woman who would let a paltry thing like money stand in the way of her son's affections is a pretty small specimen. For her part, she never did have any use for rich folks, anyway, and she is proud and glad that she's poor! I'm afraid Mrs. Jane was very angry when she said that. However, so much for her—and she may change her opinion one of these days.

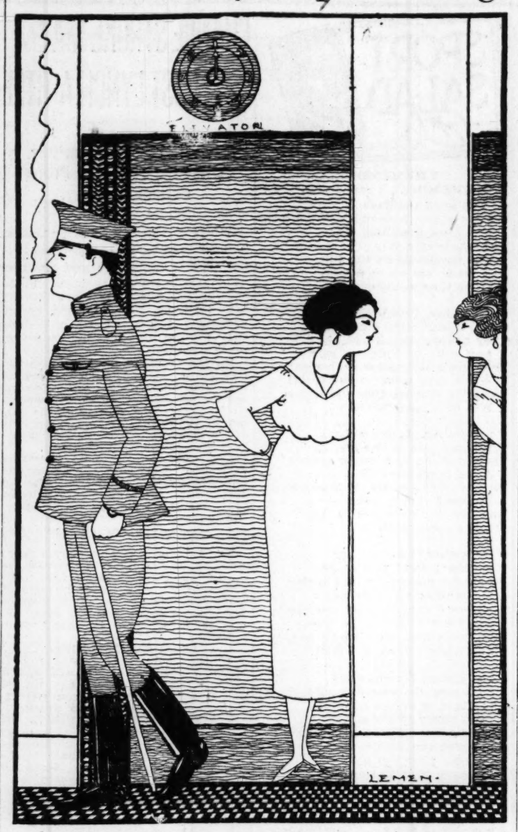

"My private suspicion is that young Pennock is already repentant and is pulling hard at his mother's leading strings, for I was with Mellicent the other day when we met the lad face to face on the street. Mellicent smiled and nodded casually, but Pennock—he turned all colors of the rainbow with terror, pleading, apology and assumed indifference all chasing each other across his face. Dear, dear, but he was a sight!

Militarily Speaking

"Guess I'm an 'Ace' Now, Mabel—I Just Brought Down My Fifth Flyer."

Dorothy Dix Says:

For a Girl to Rebel Against Conventions Is as Futile as for Her to Beat Herself Against a Granite Cliff.

A YOUNG woman is engaged to a man whose business firm has transferred him ti a western city. As he cannot spare the time to come East to see his sweetheart this summer, she has determined to go West, alone and unchaperoned, to pay him a visit, and she considers her mother and father old fogies and prudes for opposing her plan, and the the parents ask me what I think of it.

I think the girl will go, for whenever did headstrong youth listen to the counsel of age and experience? Also, I think that the girl will regret this trip to the longest day of her life.

No actual, tangible, present harm may come of it. Possibly she is able to take care of herself, as she so confidently asserts that she is. Doubtless the sweetheart is a Sir Galahad, but in spite of all of this, the girl is throwing her cap at the windmill, even if she doesn't throw her bonnet over it.

She is deliberately giving Mrs. Grundy a right to lift an eyebrow and shrug her shoulders and say, "Of course, Mary Jones seems a nice, modest girl, and there is nothing that anybody actually knows against her, but you know that time she went West by herself to visit Tommie Perkins, well"——

And the world which is a scandal-loving and a scandal-mongering world, and finds delight in believing the worst of everybody, will smile knowingly and bespatter poor, foolish, little Mary's white skirt with the slime of its own evil suspicions.

Nor will this unwarranted maligning be all. Mary will have lowered herself in Tommie Perkins' eyes, for if a girl is too ignorant to understand the impropriety of going alone to spend a few weeks in the society of a man to whom she is not married, the man at least, is wise to the situation. He knows that she has cheapened herself by the act, and men take women at their own valuation, and prize most those that hold themselves most highly and are most protected by thier families

No girl ever makes a greater mistake than when she thinks that she can flout the conventions, and that because her own intentions are good, and her own mind pure and innocent, she can do the things that society has made taboo for maidens. The world cannot possibly know what a girl's secret thoughts are, nor can it see into her soul.

It can only judge her by the things that it sees her do, and when it sees her do compromising things, forbidden things, it has a right to believe the worst of her.

It is as futile for a girl to rebel against the conventions in her own individual case as it would be for her to beat herself against a granite cliff. When she has exhausted herself the wall of convention will stand, and the thing that she could not do and keep her reputation unsullied will still be the thing she cannot do without paying the penalty.

And these conventions are not the enemy of women, as girls suppose. They are her greatest safeguards. When human beings decided to quit being savages and to institute civilization, they formulated certain rules and regulations to govern their intercourse with each other. These are what we call conventions. They are simply the accumulated wisdom of centuries.

The consensus of the experience of the world has shown that young girls need to be protected. They have not the experience of life to know how to take care of themselves. They are emotional. They are romantic. They are full of the fluttering wings of half-awakened sensibilities. They are credulous and too trusting. They are prone to let their hearts run away with their heads, and so convention has instituted the chaperon, and decreed that the young girl must not wander far afield without some older woman to watch over her, guard her and protect her against the wolves that lie in wait for just such lambs as she.

Also experience has shown that while many men are honorable and trustworthy in all their dealings with women, there are likewise many other men who consider that any woman is fair game, and that it is up to the woman herself to protect herself against them.

Many girls think that it shows that they are clever and independant when they defy conventions. It only calls attention to their lack of common sense and good judgment, for they find themselves with smudged reputations, pushed into a class where they do not really belong.

And never forget this, that when you defy the conventions and get talked about you have no recourse, no way to justify yourself. Mrs. Grundy never argues matters with her victims. She simply turns her thumbs down, and their doom is sealed.

NOVEL FASHION NOTES.

WHITE separate skirts are buttoned to the hem with large white pearl buttons.

Black and gold brocades are expected to be in high favor the coming season.

More wash materials than ever will be used for children's school dresses in the fall.

Navy silk stockings are a very important detail in the perfect costume of navy and white.

A pongee duster is so infinitely useful that it ought to form part of every summer wardrobe.

For sports wear, a violet jersey cloth suit and a soft blue felt hat make a charming costume.

If those who use lamps would sew a button on the end of the lamp wick they will have no trouble keeping it down in the kerosene.

When your broom gets shorter on one side than the other dip it into hot water, trim it evenly with the shears and you will have an improved broom.

Salt and lemon juice will remove ink stains and iron rust. Milk will remove fresh fruit stains, while hot water will take coffee or tea stains out.

RHUBARB SOUP.

PEEL the stalks of one bunch of rhubarb, split them and cut them in pieces the length of a finger. Put them on to cook, with one quart of cold water, and cook them until very soft. Then rub them through a strainer and add one cup of light corn syrup and two teaspoonfuls of vanilla flavor.

Let it all come to a boil again, and when boiling add four tablespoonfuls of tapioca stirred into one pint of cold water. If the soup should not be sweet enough for your taste, you will have to add sugar. May be served warm or cold.

POTATO PIE.

BOIL eight medium sized potatoes, with the jackets on. When they are cool, peel and grate them. Mix the grated potatoes with one level teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of butter substitute, two teaspoonfuls of vanilla flavor, one-half cupful of chopped almonds or nuts, one-half cupful of sugar or one cupful of corn syrup and two eggs. Beat this mixture very well and spread it on greased pie plates. Bake it in medium hot oven quite brown. When Baked, spread jam or jelly between layers and serve the potato pie hot.

FISHBALLS.

FOR these you can use any leftovers of fish, as well as fresh fish. Pick the cold leftover fish carefully from the bones (canned fish is treated the same way) and break it into small pieces. Fresh fish is also freed from bones, but has to be chopped up or ground through the meat chopper.

To each cup of fish add one cup of cold mashed potatoes. To four cups of this mixture add one cup of bread crumbs and three eggs. Salt and pepper to taste. Also take one finely chopped onion fried in two tablespoonfuls of butter substitute. Mix well and fry in deep fat, corn oil or butter substitute to a golden brown. When serving, sprinkle with chopped parsley.

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TONIGHT

By MRS. F. A. WALKER.

The Butterfly's Spots.

ONE day a butterfly flew into a zoo; over the bushes and shrubs she went and before she knew it she was in that part of the zoo where all the wild animals live.

In front of the leopard she alighted on a bar of his cage. "Oh, how wonderful he is!" she murmured.

"What beautiful spots and how well they show up on the beautiful yellow!" she said.

Then she flew inside the cage, in spite of the fact that Mr. Leopard jumped up and snarled at her.

Over his head she flew, and when he at last thought she was gone she alighted right on his back.

"It is the same shade," she said, as she fluttered her wings. "Almost an exact match; I'll do it." And off she flew.

Straight to the fairy's dell in the woods she went and waited until it was moonlight. It was very hard work for Miss Butterfly to keep awake, but the thought of her new dress helped her, and after a while she saw the leaves around the dell move, and knew the fairies were awake.

Straight to a leafy bow she went and tapped on a big leaf that was the door to the studio of the artist fairy.

"Do not change the color of my dress," she said, "but, beginning at the bottom of both my wings, I want you to paint spots half way up, just like those on the coat of the leopard in the zoo."

IF the leopard himself had been dropped right in their midst the little artist fairy and her helpers could not have looked more surprised.

"Oh, Miss Butterfly!" gasped the artist fairy, "no one is wearing spots this year. Do let me use a white trimming, or even a shade of brown. Some browns are beautiful with that wonderful yellow of your dress, but not those dark spots. I beg of you not to use them."

But nothing they could say changed the mind of Miss Butterfly.

When she entered the garden not far away all the butterflies stood still and gazed at her.

"She says it is the latest thing in trimming from Zoo Land," said one who had been bold enough to mention to Miss Butterfly that spots were not being worn and had been crushed by the reply that she had come straight from Zoo Land and everything worth looking at there was trimmed with spots.

Then one morning into the gardens there flew yellow butterflies with spotted wings—so many of them that Miss Butterfly flew straight to the dell and got the little fairy out of her bed.

"Change this trimming at once," she said. "Make it stripes instead of spots. I have heard somewhere that a leopard cannot change his spots, but I'll show those copy cats I can change mine.

"And I wanted to be called the Leopard Butterfly, too," she sighed, as she flew away.

BACHELOR GIRL REFLECTIONS

By Helen Rowland.

SOME husbands are almost as difficult to make "stay put" as Russia.

The latest thing in camouflage Wearing three rubber caps over your Marcel wave—and then letting your hair down "to dry" after your dip in the ocean.

Some people start out seriously on the life journey of matrimony, and others merely take two or three little tours, with stop-overs at Reno.

You can't quench a man's optimism! He may know exactly what has happened to the Czar of Russia and the King of Greece, and why—and yet sail casually in and pick out a wife with one hand and his eyes shut just as though it didn't make any difference.

Many a man who vows he would "go to the ends of the earth" for you, would be surprised and hurt if he thought you expected him to go as far as the altar end of the church aisle.

When a woman refuses to be jealous she cruelly robs her husband of half his pleasure in looking at other women.

No, polygamy is NOT practicable. Even if a modern man could afford to have more than one wife, how would he ever know whom to accuse of having hidden his pipe and purposely put his shoes right where he would fall over them?

What IS it about the sight of a man in uniform that goes right through a girl's heart and buttons up the back?

Suits Like These Will Cost MUCH MORE Later in the Season!

There is a marked scarcity of materials due to wartime conditions. Since we placed the orders for these Suits less than six weeks ago, there have been a number of advances. The next Suits we buy will cost us more, and we will be forced to ask higher prices.

For Wednesday we have prepared a special showing of 327 beautiful Suits—every one an authentic Autumn style—every one fresh from the makers' hands—and every one at a saving of 20% to 30% over prices that will prevail later. Three groups—

$35 $45 $55

It Is Just a Question of BUY NOW or Pay the Inevitable Higher Prices Later

Since the finer materials are scarce, it would seem that the designers had done their utmost with what is to be had. Not for many seasons have suit modes been so charming. Strictly tailored, semi-tailored and dress models showing many clever innovations in design and finish.

In this special showing there are fine silvertones, duvet du laine, velours, Poiret twills, tricotines and other fine fabrics; fur trimmed, velvet trimmed and finished in self materials; in black, navy, brown, gendarme blue, Congo, trench, Burgundy, Concord and Velour checks.

New Autumn Coats, $35, $45 $55 and $75

20% to 30% Less Than Prices That Will Prevail Later

It is the part of wisdom to buy your Winter Coat now, for besides getting a full season's wear out of it, prices are lower.

So many different models every one is assured a becoming style. Many with deep collars and cuffs of fur, others finished in self materials.

Animal Scarfs and Muffs

At August Sale SAVINGS

For Wednesday we have prepared a collection of special interest to those who are planning on having a new animal scarf or muff this season. New shipments have just arrived and the choosing is particularly good. A few of the hundreds of items are quoted below:

Ban Johnson Has a Tip From Washington, but He Got His Cue From the Fans

OPENING DATE OF WORLD SERIES IS STILL UNSETTLED

Baseball Men Uncertain Whether Big Games Will Start Aug. 26 or Sept. 4.

COMMISSION TO MEET

Session Today Will Decide Fate of Pennant Races and of Championship Windup.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 20.—Members of the National Commission will assemble here today to consider plans for the world's championships. Nothing has come to light here to definitely clear away the mystery as to what will transpire; but the fact that Ban B. Johnson is here from Washington leads baseball men to believe that he has obtained important information as to the attitude of the War Department toward the playing of the world's championship after Sept. 1.

Here is the latest tip from a prominent baseball man:

"Do not be surprised if the big league season comes to a sudden stop next Sunday. The meeting in Cincinnati today will take positive action to end the season so that the pennant winners will be known Sunday. The big games would then start at once."

Sept. 4 Opening Predicted.

Other baseball men say that it is almost assured that the series will start on Sept. 4.

Chairman Herrmann has received word from both Chicago and Boston to the effect that the local draft boards would not interfere with the members of these two teams for the period of time it might take to play the series.

LOCAL TENPINNERS WILL STAGE BENEFIT TOURNEY SOME TIME NEXT MONTH

At a meeting between local bowling officials and alley owners and the War Camp Community Service yesterday, it was announced by the tenpin authorities that they would hold a benefit tournament next month with the proceeds to be turned over to the War Camp Community Service fund. Events will be rolled in the five-man, two-man and singles.

It also was decided that certain hours during the day would be set aside for the service men when they could roll free of charge at the different drives by obtaining cards. These cards will entitle the holder to roll two games.

Alleys which will be open to service men will be Peterson's, Grand Central, Bobby Byrnes, Hone, Bank, Rex, Washington and Victor. The others in the city also are expected to swing into line.

FOREST STUCKMAN MEETS ROSEBROUGH IN FINALS OF BOYS' NET TOURNEY

Weather permitting, the boys' tennis tournament will conclude this morning on the Forest Park courts when Forest Stuckman will meet Roy Rosebrough. The boys were scheduled to meet yesterday. The winner of this match will in turn meet Stockton Summer, who emerged the victor in the boys' tournament at Triple A. The victor in the latter contest will have the right to go to New York to compete in the National tennis championship tournament.

Rain yesterday prevented the playing of mixed doubles matches at Forest Park and they will be played this morning, providing weather permits. The results of interpark tournament games follow:

Singles—Wray Brown, Magnolia, defeated Clif Day, Wabash, 6—1, 7—5; Woody Brown, Magnolia, defeated W. Deitz, Wabash, 6—3, 6—1; George Finger, Magnolia, defeated H. Habelton, Wabash, 6—1, 6—1. Doubles—Woody and Wray Brown, Magnolia, defeated C. Day and W. Thompson, Wabash, 6—2, 7—5.

ENTRY BLANKS ARE SENT OUT FOR NATIONAL TITLE MEET AT GREAT LAKES

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Entry blanks for the National A. A. U. out-door track and field championship to be decided in the new stadium at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station Sept. 20, 21, 22, will be mailed today.

Blanks were sent to 3500 athletes scattered in army and naval camps and in universities and athletic clubs throughout the country.

ZULU KID REPORTS FOR SERVICE IN U. S. NAVY

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Two more Brooklyn boxers have answered the call to the colors and have thrown their lot with Uncle Sam's seaman. They are Joe de Meifi, better known as the Young Zulu Kid, and Kid Sullivan. The lads enlisted at the Brooklyn Navy Yard and reported yesterday.

Earl Caddock in France.

DES MOINES, Io., Aug. 20.—Earl Caddock, heavyweight wrestling champion, is in France today, according to a report here. His eighty-eighth Division left Camp Dodge over two weeks ago and it was said here everybody arrived safe "over there." Caddock will likely entertain the boys in some wrestling matches.

Carondelet Team Wins.

The Carondelet tennis team won three straight matches from St. Louis Park in the inter-park net tournament Sunday. In the doubles, Leo Moult and Ed Wohlberg defeated P. Gruenewald and E. Stahl, 6—2, 6—2. Ed Wohlberg won from O. Koenemann, 6—1, 6—0, in one singles match, while Robert Moult defeated E. Stahl, 6—0, 6—0, in the other.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Jap Menace Still With Us.

HONORABLE YELLOW PERIL, born Ichiya Kumagae, is still one of our most exalted menaces, from a tennis viewpoint, notwithstanding the entry of R. Lindley Murray in the national championship, which opens next Monday at Forest Hills, L. I.

Two years ago Murray gypped the Jap in a manner to make him commit harikari, had Kumagae been sensitive about his net prowess. Twice, at important stages of important tournaments, Murray dashed to the net and beat back the baseline shots of the Nipponese wizard in overwhelming fashion. If recollection serves, seven sets were played in the two matches, and the Jap took but one—a convincing margin in favor of Murray.

But calm your optimism, Bo—the title is not yet safe for America. Thus far Murray is the ONLY entry whose performance during the past two years justifies belief that he can take care of the Jap; and Murray is woefully lacking in tournament practice.

Unless more first-rank men enter today, or unless Murray can accomplish a miracle by attaining his top form in a week, the yellow menace is still with us.

They Die Hard.

GREAT BRITAIN has not yet succeeded in shelving thoroughbred racing, despite demands of the multitude and conservation needs of various kinds. Curtailment is the worst this sport has yet suffered, in England; in Ireland the game goes merrily on as if cannon were not blotting out humankind, almost within earshot.

We read of how much more pure and clean the British English racing game is than that now coming back to life in America; but in England, too, it seems to attract the self-same parasites that wrecked the sport in this country a few years ago.

Racing's followers, rather than the inherent badness of the pastime, are responsible for the discredit attaching to it. And such followers!

The sporting journals over there are still filled with the ballyhoo ads of tipsters and sure-thing men. For example, here are selections from the advertising column of the London Sporting Life:

Kumagae's Conqueror Enters Title Tourney

ANOTHER star of the top 10, Robert Lindley Murray, who twice defeated the Jap, Kumagae, in 1916, was added to the entry list for the National lawn tennis championship singles yesterday. The officials, however, continued to postpone the drawing of the competitors for the singles title in the hope that two or three others of the famous players of the country would be able to compete in the tournament at Forest Hills to bring out the successor to Lieut. R. Norris Williams II.

Our Touts Outtouted.

"SIMPLEX is very confident about ONE GOOD THING TODAY and cordially invites readers to share in his selection. Send 1 pound and a reply-paid telegram," etc.

"A FREE TIP about a confidently anticipated JOB will be presented to any sportsman sending two 1½ penny stamps for the current issue of the PADDOCK."

"BISHOP PIE says: I am the original Bishop Pie and know a horse galloped 14 lb in hand for Thursday. Gentlemen who can really appreciate genuine information of a MOST EXCLUSIVE nature send 10 shillings and fear nothing."

"IRISH OAKS—Gentlemen, betting on Special Information only, will wire highly tried outsider for this race. Fear nothing. Remit 3 shillings."

The emphasis on the "fear nothing" and on the "gentlemanly" character of the tout seem to imply that both the honesty and the decency of the proceedings have been subjected to considerable criticism in the past.

The wonder is that this sort of individual is permitted to operate at all in view of England's "work or fight" war rule.

BROWNS LOST ONLY 7 GAMES TO NATIONALS

Season's Series Between Clubs Came to Close Yesterday With Griffmen Winning.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Having played all their games with Washington, with an open day today, the Browns left late last night for Boston, and will get into the city of culture in plenty of time for a good night's sleep before facing the Red Sox tomorrow. If the Burke crew plays ball as it did in this city, the near-champions will have a hard time hanging up victories.

Manager Burke says the Browns are after a piece of the world's series money and will yet climb over the Yankees and White Sox before the curtain is lowered on the season. All of Burke's pitchers are in good shape and they are getting the best of support.

Although the Senators are out of the running for the pennant they will have the satisfaction of establishing one or more records. Yesterday's 14-inning victory over the Browns, 3—2, made the fifteenth extra-inning game they have played this season, and Walter Johnson established the season's record yesterday by striking out 12 batsmen.

With the series between the clubs closed, the Browns had the honor of winning 12 of the 19 played, the best record they have made against any other aggregation.

STECHER SECOND CLASS SEAMAN AT GREAT LAKES

GREAT LAKES, Ill., Aug. 20.—Joe Stecher of Dodge, Neb., former world's wrestling champion, who reported at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station yesterday, is rated as a seaman second class. Stecher found difficulty in getting fitted to a Jacky's uniform because of his size.

Athletic authorities at the station are attempting to arrange a match between Stecher and Ed "Strangler" Lewis, who is at Camp Grant, for the wrestling championship of the service. In their first match they wrestled for five hours without a fall.

MATTY TO PITCH LAST CONTEST IN CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, Aug. 20.—The return to the mound of the "Old Master," Christy Mathewson, will be one of the features of the closing of baseball at the Cincinnati National League Park, Sept. 1 and 2. There also will be doubleheaders both ways with St. Louis, airplane flights and plenty of patriotic speeches and music.

"No other city will bid baseball good-by in such impressive fashion," is President August Herrman's idea of the celebration.

ROBINS HERE TOMORROW

Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson, who has succeeded in keeping the Dodgers in fifth place, although he has the smallest squad of players in captivity at present, call here tomorrow for a series of three games with the Cardinals. The Knot Holers then close their final intersectional stand at home with a series with the Giants.

CUBS AND RED SOX FAR OUT IN FRONT

National and American League Pennant Leaders Are Almost Assured of Titles.

As a result of the games played yesterday in the two major leagues, the Chicago Cubs and Boston Red Sox are "practically in" as pennant winners. The Bruins today have a lead of eight and a half games over the Giants, while the Red Sox top the Indians by four full battles in the American League.

The two pacemakers in the National League now have 14 more games to play, if the season extends to Sept. 2. All but two of those for the Cubs are on the home lot. The Giants, on the other hand, have only two at home. In order to have any chance, the Giants must win all their games.

In the American the Red Sox have 12 more contests, four with the Browns, three each with Detroit and Philadelphia and two with New York. The Indians, on the other hand, have only 11, four with Washington, three with Philadelphia and meet the White Sox and Browns each twice.

While the Red Sox face clubs they have an edge over on the season's play, the Indians will have to tackle the Nationals and White Sox, who both have the advantage in the contests staged this season. Should the Indians win all their contests, the Red Sox would need eight more victories to clinch the pennant.

Cravath Turns Great Catch.

Gavvy Cravath, aged but still active, turned in the fielding feature of yesterday's matinee at Cardinal Field, when he went back to the right field pavillion for a jumping catch of Anderson's long fly. It cut off an extra base hit and a possible run as Leon Ames was on first base at the time.

16 AMATEURS ENTER SHOW AT BARRACKS

Benny McGovern and Kid Herman Also Are Scheduled to Box Exhibition Tonight.

Sixteen local amateur boxers have entered the fourth tournament of the War Camp Community Service to be staged at Jefferson Barracks tonight. The tourney is being given under the auspices of the Western Rowing Club. Several of the boxers entered for tonight are newcomers.

Because of the large number of contestants already in line, the officials have decided not to arrange the bouts until after the boxers have been weighed in tonight. This will assure every boy who shows up of a chance of competing.

Besides the regular contests, two exhibition contests have been arranged. In one of them, Benny McGovern, the local featherweight star, will spar with Pekin Kid Herman, who is now a soldier at the Barracks. Pewee Kaiser will meet Eddie Meier in the other.

The show will be started at 8 o'clock, with a 30-minute vaudeville entertainment by the Y. M. C. A. and the bouts will follow immediately after. Lieut. Floyd, the new athletic director at the Barracks, will make his bow tonight.

The officials will be Walter Heisner, referee; James Solari and Herman Kempf, judges, and Sergt. Kettner, announcer. Boxers are requested to report at 7:30 o'clock.

The entries are as follows:

105 pounds—Max Quibleman, S. B. A. C.; Ben Shapiro, unattached; George La Blank, unattached; Sol Bader, S. B. A. C.; Joe Manito, unattached.

115 pounds—H. Whalen, C. A. C.; W. Mitchell, C. A. C.; Robert Weiss, S. B. A. C.

125 pounds—Al Lukawsky, unattached; Elmer Nau, unattached; John Carton, unattached; George Osten, S. B. A. C.

140 pounds—Harry Roth, S. B. A. C.; Ed Gokenbach, S. B. A. C.; Oscar Juergens Jr., S. B. A. C.; Will Gokenbach, S. B. A. C.

KANSAS CITY SEEKING INTERCITY MUNICIPAL CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

Inter-city games for this year's Municipal Baseball Association championship are still in doubt, it was announced this morning by Rodowe Abeken, Kansas City has written asking for a series early next month, but this is impossible as the local title contests will not be played until Sept. 21 and 22.

Abeken, however, stated that if Kansas City agreed to send its champions here late in the month, the St. Louisans would make the return trip at their own expense, providing the games were played in one of Kansas City's public parks. The present plan of Kansas City is to play the contests on the association grounds, and charge admission.

Nothing has been heard from the Camp Funston authorities, while bringing the Great Lakes team here is now out of the question.

At a meeting yesterday it was decided to start the eliminations on Sept. 7. Managers of the pennant winners will meet Sept. 5, when pairings will be arranged.

At yesterday's gathering it also was decided that the teams would be permitted to sign no more players, except to replace those who have joined the colors. If any club loses a tosser during the eliminations, he can be replaced from a player, who participated in the same league, but only position for position.

2 LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL STARS ENLIST IN NAVY

Two more of St. Louis' High School athletic stars have enlisted in the navy. They are Webster Conley of McKinley and Ted Schuster of Soldan. Conley will go to Mare Island, Cal., as an apprentice seaman, while Schuster will be sent to Great Lakes.

Conley was a star in baseball at McKinley, while he also played football and was a member of the track team. Schuster was one of Soldan's football leaders.

E. COLLINS PASSES TEST

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—Eddie Collins, star second baseman of the Chicago Americans, passed the physical examination yesterday and was signed into the United States Marines. He expects to leave for the training camp at Paris Island, S. C., within a few days. Collins was 31 years old last May, is married and has two children.

I REMEMBER.

I REMEMBER, I remember,
The good old days of yore;
We got eight thousand bucks a year
And always wanted more.
The star performers always had
The magnates on the hip,
And made 'em dance a merry tune
When they would crack their whip.

I remember, I remember,
The scintillating stars;
They always stopped at swell hotels
And rode in Pullman cars.
They got a dollar for each meal
While they were on the train;
I wonder if those good old times
Will ever come again.

I remember, I remember,
When I was in the sticks,
They sold me to a major league
And I responded "Nix."
I'll have to have six thousand bucks
Before I don a mitt;
And just like rolling off a log,
I got away with it."

I remember, I remember
Before I went to France,
I'd send a message in the spring
Demanding my "advance."
But now I cannot draw my pay
Till I have earned the mon.
For Uncle Sam would only say,
"Advance" upon the Hun.

I remember, I remember
The way the crowd would cheer;
The plaudits of the populace
Was music to my ear.
But now I'm waiting for a chance
To give the fans a thrill;
Just keep your eye on me in France
When I swat Kaiser Bill!

CHANCE STROKE MAY COST LYNCH A TITLE

Municipal Golf Committee Investigating Manion's Protest of Sunday's Play.

Whether Frank Lynch or James Manion is to be pronounced municipal golf champion is now entirely up to testimony of eyewitnesses to the incident that took place Sunday afternoon, on the sixteenth green, afternoon round, of their 37-hole final for the title, which Lynch won on the actual play.

Manion yesterday laid his case before President E. J. Snowden and an investigation is under way. According to an official of the Municipal Golf League, T. L. Moriarity, the ruling in the case will depend on evidence obtainable from gallery members who saw the match.

According to Manion the play was as follows: Lynch, in addressing the ball, accidentally touched it. Manion states that the blow was sufficient to cause it to change its position. Lynch maintained that the ball did not "turn" over, and therefore was not a stroke.

The rule, as interpreted by a footnote, indicates that if a ball be moved, under the circumstances mentioned, it is not a stroke if the ball merely oscillates, but if it changes position, even though it does no turn over, it must be construed a stroke.

Lynch May Lose Title.

If the evidence shows the ball changed position, Lynch will lose a stroke. As the match was played out, it would give Manion a victory, 2 to 1, on the seventeenth green.

Frank Lynch lost a match in the Transmississippi tournament at Kansas City to Stewart Stickney, because he failed to claim a similar point. Stickney disturbed the ball in addressing it and called Lynch's attention to it.

"That's all right, Mr. Stickney, play ahead,' Lynch said. He lost by one hole a match that he might have won had he not waived a legitimate claim.

Clarence Wolff, a member of the gallery, stated that he did not see the play.

"Manion asked my recollection of the rule," Wolff said today, "and I told him that the ball had to move out of its position; but I did not say that it had to turn over. As to how far the ball actually moved, I do not know as I did not happen to see the play close enough to notice."

DUNDEE DEFEATS TUOHEY

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 20.—Johnny Dundee of New York defeated Tommy Tuohey of Paterson in every round except the sixth of an eight-round bout here last night. Dundee scored a clean knockdown in the fifth. Dundee weighed 135 pounds and Tuohey 136.

LANGFORD KAYOS WARE

PHILS END VISIT TODAY

The Phillies and Cardinals conclude their series this afternoon with a single game, weather permitting. It also will be the final appearance of the season for Moran's misfits. The Cardinals have won 11 and lost seven in the games with the Phils this season. Bill Doak probably will work today, while Moran's selection was in doubt this morning.

ONLY ONE CARDINAL HAS 'ESSENTIAL' JOB

Packard to Become Farmer After Labor Day—Other Players Still in Doubt.

Two weeks from today, major league baseball players must be engaged in useful occupations or discard civilian clothes and enter the army to conform with Secretary of War Baker's mandate, yet a majority of the Cardinals, according to sentiment expressed yesterday, have not decided as yet just what sort of work they will do. Apparently, there is going to be a mad scramble for jobs along about Labor day.

Providing the new draft bill is passed by Congress within the near future, not one voting citizen of the Knot Holers will be exempt from service, if the age limits are set at 18 to 45. Jack Hendricks, Leon Ames, Gene Packard, Bob Wallace and Clifton Heathcote are the players exempt from the first draft law because of their ages, but the new bill will cause them to come under Uncle Sam's jurisdiction. Oscar Tuero and Mike Gonzales, both citizens of Cuba, are the only members of the club not affected by the selective service law.

Manager Hendricks said yesterday he hadn't decided what he will do subsequent to Labor day. Bob Wallace said the same, pointing out that he had done nothing since he was 18 years old aside from playing baseball. Bob, however, is looking around now for a position and if he finds one will not take the next road trip with the Cardinals.

Just one member of the club was able to outline his plans definitely. Gene Packard will go back to his farm near Kansas City, Mo., and endeavor to relieve the wheat shortage. The others are in quest of positions, but thus far have had no success. The Cardinal players intimated they will start a concerted job hunt next week.

HEATHCOTE GETS ERROR ON MISPLAY BY BROCK

Clifton Heathcote was given an error in yesterday's game with the Phillies on a queer play and which he really did not deserve. With Williams and Stock on bases in the fifth, Luderus singled to center. Heathcote whipped the ball home, and when neither Ames nor Brock touched the throw, Williams and Stock scored.

Ames figured Heathcote's throw would reach the plate and passed it up. Brock apparently believed Ames would cut it off and made no attempt to stop it. Hence, since neither touched the ball, Heathcote had to be penalized, though, had the scoring rules permitted it, Brock should have drawn the error.

FIRST LIBERTY BONDS SCORE HIGH RECORD IN NEW YORK MARKET

Sales Are Made at 101.10, Compared With New Record Yesterday of 101.06—Stocks Are Strong and Higher.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.

Irregular but fairly firm prices were recorded at the opening of the Stock Exchange today despite a very light trade. War news favored buyers, but at the moment has lost its influence. Weather was fair for the corn crop. The question of taxes and money supplies is a restraint in speculation.

Current strength and activity in Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing common stock reflects the company's present high rate of earnings and strong financial position.

Westinghouse Electric began its new fiscal year on April 1 with current assets, including only materials and supplies, cash and receivables, of $98,710,180, and current liabilities of $53,318,257, leaving working capital of $45,391,923, or $30.33 (66.66 per cent) a share on the $3,998,700 preferred stock and $70,813,590 common stock.

Both issues are now receiving annual dividends of 7 per cent, or $3.50 a share on $50 par value, and share alike in any increase. Investments totaling $17,212,071 are not taken as current assets although they undoubtedly include the company's holdings of Liberty Bonds.

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S TRADING IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The activity and strength of Canadian Pacific at a further advance of 3¾ points was the feature of the early dealings in the stock market today. Other rails, including some of the low-priced issues, were higher by liberal fractions to 1 point.

Marines supplemented their gains of the previous session and other strong stocks included American Smelting, American Sugar, Sumatra Tobacco and United States Rubber. United States Steel gained a half point and specialties were represented by New York Airbrake, which declined 4¾ points.

Trading assumed wider proportions later the usual leaders, however, being obscured by rails and specialties.

Wisconsin Central was prominent among the low priced rails, advancing 1¾ points. Union Pacific and St. Paul preferred gained one point each.

General Motors was again active despite recent restrictions, advancing 2¾, and gains of 1 to 2½ points were recorded by American Telephone, American Can, Steel Foundries, Railway Steel Spring and Baldwin Locomotive. Liberty 3½s were lifted to the new high record of 101.10, related issues showing greater steadiness.

Accessions to the wider and more active market of the early afternoon embraced coal shares, notably Norfolk & Western and Pittsburg & West Virginia; also Western Union Telegraph Co.; shippings and specialties eased slightly, industrials showing no material change.

Liberty 3½s Bonds Score New Record at 101.10.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Liberty 3½ per cent bonds, continuing their upward course, sold at 101.10, attaining a new high mark on the Stock Exchange today.

SHOWERS IN TEXAS A BEAR POINT ON COTTON

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—There was a break of approximately 1c a pound at the opening of the cotton market today, owing to reports of showers in Texas and prospects for a break in the drouth. December sold off to 30.70c, making a decline of 115 points from the closing prices yesterday, and of nearly $10 a bale from the high level of yesterday morning.

Trading was not particularly active or general, but there was hedge selling as well as a good deal of scattering liquidation, and first prices were irregular at a decline of 25 to 104 points. October sold off to 31.60c December to 30.70c and January to 30.65c during the first few minutes, or 85 to 115 points under last night's closing figures, and in the case of December, fully 2c a pound below the high level of yesterday.

There was covering enough to steady prices and cause quick rallies of 30 to 65 points as soon as the initial selling had been absorbed, but later fluctuations were nervous and irregular.

The Western belt forecast, which called for nothing more than showers in Southeast Texas, was a disappointment to early sellers and there was covering enough to rally prices to 31.50c for December, or 85 points from the low level of the morning. This advance met another flurry of realizing, or local selling, and the market was very irregular late in the forenoon, but was steadier around midday by the detailed weather report, which failed to show as much precipitation in Texas as expected.

Cotton Opening.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Cotton futures opened irregular; October, 32.25c to 32.10c; December, 31.15c to 30.75c; January, 30.70c to 30.76c; March, 30.80c to 30.95c; May none.

Packers' Profits Are Regulated

The public should understand that the profits of the packers have been limited by the Food Administration since November 1, 1917. For this purpose, the business of Swift & Company is now divided into three classes:

Class 1 includes such products as beef, pork, mutton, oleomargarine and others that are essentially animal products. Profits are limited to 9 per cent of the capital employed in these departments, (including surplus and borrowed money), or not to exceed two and a half cents on each dollar of sales.

Class 2 includes the soap, glue, fertilizer, and other departments more or less associated with the meat business. Many of these departments are in competition with outside businesses whose profits are not limited. Profits in this class are restricted to 15 per cent of the capital employed.

Class 3 includes outside investments, such as those in stock yards, and the operation of packing plants in foreign countries. Profits in this class are not limited.

Total profits for all departments together in 1918 will probably be between three and four per cent on an increased volume of sales.

The restrictions absolutely guarantee a reasonable relation between live stock prices and wholesale meat prices, because the packer's profit can not possibly average more than a fraction of a cent per pound of product.

Since the profits on meat (Class 1) are running only about 2 cents on each dollar of sales, we have to depend on the profits from soap, glue, fertilizer (Class 2, also limited) and other departments, (Class 3) to obtain reasonable earnings on capital.

Swift & Company is conducting its business so as to come within these limitations.

MR. SHIRLEY is 100 per cent efficient in all his undertakings. He is not only an influential citizen, but an enthusiastically patriotic one as well, and in entire sympathy with all the present war-time slogans. "William," said he, somewhat peeved by his chauffeur's persistent habit of whistling while at his work in the garage, "you should remember that our Government is asking every one of us to eliminate every form of waste. Not only that, but you should always remember that the greatest fortunes are made from the by-products of waste. Hereafter when you whistle, whistle in the tires and save me the expense of a pump."—Harper's Magazine.
